Marketing key to tourism dollar, Chamber is told

Competition for tourism dollars is intensifying, and operators who hope to carve out a niche in the marketplace must be marketing oriented, provincial tourism minister John Eakins told the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce on Friday.

In a brief speech following the Chamber's annual meeting and dinner at PineStone Inn, Eakins said he will seek closer co operation between the province and the federal government to ensure "a higher profile and acceptance" of tourism.

Tourism is an $8 billion dollar industry in Ontario, and it generates an additional billion dollars in taxes, the minister said. Currently a tourism marketing strategy for Ontario is being developed, Eakins said, and the chairman of the province's management board has assured him that no provincial advertising which generates revenue will be cut.

In Haliburton County, there must be "a close relationship between the Chamber and businesses in getting the most out of tourism dollars," the minister said.

Changes in society are having an impact on the tourism sector, Eakins noted. He said people are

Chamber elects new directors for coming year

Five new directors will join seven incumbents on the board of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce. The board was elected Friday night at the Chamber's annual meeting, which for the first time was held following a dinner at PineStone Inn.

New directors on the board include Al Mayo, manager of the Toronto Dominion Bank in Minden; Pat Kennedy, owner of Kennedy Surplus in Haliburton; Bill Burden, owner of West Guilford Shopping Centre; Marj Kennedy, co owner of Silver Eagle Cottages at Eagle Lake; and John Mateer, co owner of Hart Lodge.

Incumbents on the board are Shawn Hagerman, a chartered life underwriter; Alan Bagg, owner of Eagle Lake Store; Robert Cairns, owner of Heather Lodge; Albert Foster, owner of the Wagon Wheel Motel; Bob Jennings, owner of Sandy Lane Resort; Gary Thurston, a chartered accountant; and Dante Larcade of the Domain of Killien.

Outgoing president Ken Langdon, who will sit on the board as past president, said that while the organization "is not out of the woods yet" after a period of turmoil and change, "the trees are thinning."

"The support and confidence" of the membership "gave us the courage to carry on," he said.

No Highlander of the Year award was presented this year. Instead, Langdon said, the Chamber plans a major fund raising push in January to help eliminate a deficit that resulted from construction of the organization's new office building on Highway 35 at Minden.

Minister addresses area Chamber

Provincial tourism minister John Eakins was the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce on Friday night. A large number of Chamber supporters were on hand for the event, which included the election of a slate of directors for the coming year. Many people lingered after the program to discuss tourism and other matters with the minister.

Martin workers reject offer

Union vows to 'stick it out' until they get the contract they want

By LEN PIZZEY
Editor

Striking woodworkers at G.W. Martin Lumber Limited's Harcourt mill have resoundingly rejected the company's latest contract offer. A union spokesman said the workers voted 90 to 6 on Monday not to accept the company's latest proposal, which was tabled at a mediation session in Peterborough on Friday.

The spokesman said workers turned the offer down because it was substantially unchanged from the company's previous offers, "and in some cases on this new offer, we lost money." He said the shift bonus was reduced, and the basic wage increase remains at 3.5 percent "which is no change whatsoever."

The new offer did include a medical plan, but it would cost workers $29 a month, an amount the spokesman said workers can't afford "on $7 an hour."

"The fellows are pretty upset," the union spokesman said. "Wages were not the main issue" in the strike, "but we wanted more than 3.5 percent."

As well as rejecting the offer, the striking workers gave their negotiating team a vote of confidence, and authorized them to turn thumbs down on any company offer they consider unacceptable.

There were no direct talks between the union delegation, which included eastern Canadian vice president Wilf Chalmers, and the company at Friday's mediation session.

"We couldn't debate the offer" the union spokesman said. "We've been going since May, and there's been no change whatsoever."

Picketing continues at the plant and the company's new office building on Elephant Lake Road.

Many of the workers have found part time work to help them meet expenses while the strike continues, and the international union's strike fund "is basically unlimited," the spokesman said.

"We're prepared to stick it out until we get some reasonable offer."

Tallman has been reeve since 1978. Clark served a two year term as councillor before his election to the deputy reeve's post in 1982.

Jim Deterling was first elected to council in 1982. Dwayne Tighe was appointed to his council seat to fill the vacancy left by Barry Dunford, who became municipal road superintendent.

Gary Stoughton was a candidate in the 1982 election and was narrowly defeated by Deterling. Barris, Coumbis and Strong are making their first bid for a council seat.

Monmouth's representative on the board of education, Ross Anderson, is back in by acclamation.

No date for an all-candidates meeting has been set.

Six run in Monmouth

By LEN PIZZEY
Editor

Six people, including two incumbents, will try to win one of three council seats in Monmouth Township on November 12.

Incumbents Jim Deterling and Dwayne Tighe will seek re-election, along with hopefuls Gary Stoughton, Joyce Barris, Joanne Coumbis and Larry Strong.

The other council incumbent, Alan Revill, will complete his term, but has decided not to seek re-election.

Reeve Keith Tallman is back at the municipality's helm for another term by acclamation, and deputy reeve Harry Clark has also been acclaimed for another term.

Fearrey is reeve, four try for deputy

By LEN PIZZEY
Editor

Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey ended weeks of public speculation and suspense on Monday by announcing that he will serve another three year term.

The decision opened the door for announcements by other candidates who had been waiting for the reeve's decision before declaring their intentions.

With Fearrey assured of the reeveship by acclamation, former deputy reeve Harold Bannon, who stepped down because of illness three years ago and would have run for reeve if Fearrey had not, said he would be a candidate for deputy reeve. Also in the race for deputy reeve are Bill Davis, Bob Nichol and Curry Bishop.

Fearrey said he waited until Monday's nomination deadline to make his intentions public for two reasons. Firstly, he had to decide

Bannon says he has the time and energy to serve and is "dedicated to seeing continued growth in Dysart."

Deputy reeve candidate Bill Davis has had three years experience on the Dysart planning board and was an unsuccessful candidate in Ward one in the 1982 election.

"This municipality has progressed. My ideas are in step with progress," Davis said. He said he has "a keen interest in the community" and "no vested interest which would compromise my objectivity".

Bob Nichol said his greatest attribute for the deputy reeveship is his youth and his willingness to work hard for the benefit of the community.

Curry Bishop, who filed his nomination papers just before Monday's deadline, was at his hunting camp Tuesday and could not be reached for comment.

Incumbent deputy reeve Sid Co-

Three tough years ahead

what role he might play if a provincial election is called in the near future, and secondly, he was prepared to step down from the reeveship if other candidates came forward.

Monday's decision means that if a provincial election is called within a year, he "would be obliged" to fill municipal duties, rather than run on the Progressive Conservative slate, as he did in the April campaign.

"It's not fair to pretend to be reeve and not fulfill at least most of the term," Fearrey said.

As for interest in the reeveship by other citizens, Fearrey said "the only person who indicated he would run (Harold Bannon), also indicated that he wanted me to stay on."

Fearrey said he thinks the next three year term will be "one of the most difficult." Dysart council has faced for some time. In the past three years, the municipal portion of local tax levies has risen an average of only two percent per year "and we can't continue to do this."

Fearrey said major expenditures looming on the horizon include new firefighting equipment, municipal commitment if the Kanawa Museum proceeds, and other undertakings "that may be expected of council in respect to hospital improvements and - hopefully - expansion."

A sewer extension to PineStone Inn is also awaiting provincial approval, and at least two major condominium projects are being considered.

As well, "we're going to be under increasing pressure with our roads program" which has barely met municipal standards in recent years, the reeve said.

The next council will have to "take a more aggressive stance, and perhaps spend a little more than we have been spending."

Deputy reeve candidate Harold Bannon retired from that position in 1982 after six years in the position, and a total of nine years on council. In a press release announcing his candidacy, he said he has "gained valuable experience and knowledge in the operation of municipal and county government."

per will not seek that office, but will retain his seat in Ward four by acclamation.

Dorothy Baker has been acclaimed in Ward one, as have Lloyd Leadbeater in Ward Three and R. Glen Hodgson in Ward Five.

The only race for a council seat is in Ward Two, where incumbent John Parish faces a challenge from Miles M. Roberts.

Eight people are vying for Dysart's five seats on the board of education. Incumbents Len Salvatore, Lynn Craignyle and Nancy Stinson will be joined on the ballot by Wanda Byers, Isobel Keefer, Wayne "Woody" Wood, Larry Podmore and Joan Sawyer. Paul Wilson, who was appointed to the board two years ago and served as chairman in 1985, will not seek a seat this time around.

Ratepayers will have a chance to meet the candidates at an open forum on November 2.

Cardiff reeve faces challenge

Cardiff Township reeve Mac Peters will be challenged by deputy reeve Ross Duncan, whose former position is being sought by three newcomers.

William Hutton, owner of a general store, Maurice Bradley, a minister in Tory Hill, and Bernie McGaughey, an electrician, are all running for public office for the first time as they try to win the deputy reeve's seat.

Seven people are running for the three councillor's seats, including incumbents Debbie Donaldson, a housewife, and Paul Slighte, a cottager who works in a computer business in Toronto.

The newcomers are James Murphy, director of a group home, Norm Harris, businessman, Garth Clark, a retired officer in the forces, Oscar White and Jack Johnston.

School board incumbent Linda Mumford is being challenged by Rhonda Packard, a housewife.

The application from Elizabeth Ewens to close and purchase part of the original allowance for road along the shore of KENNIS Lake in front of Lot 7, Concession 11, was approved.

The legal firm of Franklin and Sklar were advised that if their client wishes to use the original allowance for road between Lots 20 and 21, Concession 11, Dysart Township, he/she should apply to the Municipality in writing to do so, in accordance with the terms set out in the Policy Manual regarding use of any unopened road allowance.

An application for closure and purchase of the original road allowance between Concessions IV and V, Lot 11, Guilford Township, was rejected, based on the needed public access, however, council recognized any building encroachment and will close the original shoreline allowance in front of Mr. Sims property.

The road superintendent will proceed with the planned and budgeted items as follows: connecting link improvements from the dock to Hwy. 121 west, to include filling, sloping, seeding, sidewalk construction, planters and benches; ONIP 85 reconstruction, regrading, repaving, sidewalk, curb and gutter replacement on Highland Street from Maple to Oak Streets; construct approximately 1000' of sidewalk - Riverside Drive; construct approximately 660' of sidewalk - Highland Street (Spruce to Eastern Avenue).

Permission was granted the Miskwabi Area Cottagers' Association to install a 6' x 14' floating dock on the municipal landing on Miskwabi Lake to service water access lots in Registered Plan 482, Dudley. The clerk will arrange clearance of this item with the Municipal insurers regarding liability coverage prior to granting final permission.

G.R. Penhale and Eric Mason were advised that council have no objections to the proposed dredging in front of their cottages on Haas (Paradise) Lake, Concession 4, Pt. Lot 28, Dysart provided the Ministry of Natural Resources approve and Penhale and Mason follow that Ministry's direction in this small, sensitive lake.

The property standards officer was instructed to advise Bev Parish that her property is not up the standards imposed by the property standards by-law.

R. Glen Hodgson, the road superintendent and the clerk reviewed council's concerns with Gord Crosby of the consulting firm, Totten Sims Hubicki & Associates, reference the Kennis-Kawagama Lake Roads.

Thomas J. Brown was advised that council cannot plow Alexander Court this year since plow routes have already been established for 1985-86 winter season.

The following members of council will serve on the Job Development Project Committee for 1985/86 from October 21, 1985 to April 25, 1986, totalling $153,311.00 for a total of thirteen positions, 1 (John Parish 2) Glen Hodgson.

Bicroft ballot jammed as 13 seek positions

By LEN PIZZEY
Editor

Electors in Bicroft Township could have a difficult time deciding who to vote for if no one withdraws from the race. Eleven people filed nomination papers for the four council seats in Haliburton County's smallest, but apparently most politically active, municipality.

Bill Howe, a former member of Bicroft's board of trustees and its first reeve, will try to retain the reeveship in the face of a challenge from former councillor Ainsley L. Dickinson.

Those seeking council seats include Hans Robert Stevens, Leonard English, Richard Harrison, Victor Dunk, Austin Fults, Sharon McKenzie, Richard Vickery, Stanley Miller, Jack Todd (an incumbent), Jack Moore, and Pat Ray. Incumbents Aisie Easton and Jim Fraser have decided not to run again.

Bicroft has no representative on the board of education.

Clerk Sandra McColl said an all-candidates meeting is planned for early November.

Lutterworth reeve is in by acclamation

By LEN PIZZEY
Editor

Four of the five council positions in Lutterworth Township will be up for grabs in the November 12 election.

Only the reeve's chair has been filled by acclamation. The position will go to former councillor Bill

Valentine, a veteran member who takes over from the present reeve, Ron Gambell.

Incumbent deputy reeve Glynne Lewis faces a challenge from Carol Puffer, a full time resident of the area making her first attempt at winning the job.

The five council seats will be contested by Jim McMahon, Ingram Wessell, Elizabeth Wright, incumbent Allan E. Stott, and Lisa Mercer.

Incumbent councillor Bill Prentice will not seek another term.

Cheryl Murdoch has been acclaimed as Lutterworth's representative on the Haliburton County Board of Education.

Radio from Bert's Communications at a cost of $400 plus cost of crystals. Dale MacDonald declared a conflict of interest.

Elderly need access to psychiatric help

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

It is organizations like the Haliburton County Home Support Services that can help set up an outreach program for senior citizens needing psychiatric care, the volunteer group was told Friday.

"We really do want to be able to service this area and maybe the best way is through an organization like Home Support," said Art Prowse, director of psychiatric services at the Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Haliburton County has the highest percentage of senior citizens in the province, he said, with 18 per cent of the citizens being 65 years old or older. The provincial average is 10 per cent. Studies estimate that between 20 and 40 per cent of the elderly population suffer from psychiatric disorders while people with more serious illnesses such as schizophrenia and neuroses account for 20 to 30 per cent.

Dr. Prowse's office is trying to reach out into the different communities in the Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Haliburton counties, but since their budget does not make great allowances for transportation, some plan must be devised to contact people in the outlying regions. He made his first visit to the Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home on his way to the luncheon at the PineStone and plans to make monthly visits to the area.

Too many people are being institutionalized, he said, and that may be because "we weren't reaching people soon enough...our demand for services and what we are providing isn't anywhere near where the assessment (of demands) indicated."

Good communication links must be set up between the hospital, doctors, the community, the patient and the families, he said, and everyone must work together to help seniors deal with such problems as depression and nerves. Many patients are afraid of the word psychiatry and will deny having any problems so Dr. Prowse added that public education was also needed.

"Our wish whenever possible is to have patients treated and maintained in their own community," he added.

The end results Dr. Prowse is hoping for are a decrease of deaths, reduced hospitalization, improved quality of life, and strengthening social support.

"Hopefully as we progress we'll be imparting some knowledge as well," he said. "At the moment we're telling people what we're doing but as we go along we'll be giving more in-service visits."

Dr. Prowse was the guest speaker at Home Support's regular meeting. Two other guests were Beverly Brown and Brenda Burns, to women from the Lovesick Lake Women's Association who were on hand to sell their cookbook of wild game recipes.

The proceeds from the sale are going towards the group's pet project of setting up a native heritage camp to begin by 1987.

Dr. Art Prowse, director of psychiatric services at the Peterborough Civic Hospital, was the guest speaker at the Haliburton County Home Support Services meeting at the PineStone Inn on Friday. His speech focused on what must be done to help seniors cope with some of the emotional strains of growing old.

Nesbitt, Kenney are in race for Minden reeve

In what promises to be a vocal contest, former reeve and warden Sinc Nesbitt has decided to run for the reeveship of Anson, Hindon and Minden against Gary Kenney, a councillor for the past term.

"You need the experience of county council and you need to know the ministers (at the provincial level) and have access to get in and see them," says Nesbitt, who was defeated as reeve in 1980, after holding the position for one term.

His political career started in 1966 when he became a councillor in Stanhope. He then went on to be reeve from 1968 to 1978, spending one of those years as warden of the county.

He's running against Kenney because he believes Kenney needs more experience, even though Nesbitt himself became reeve after only one term as a councillor. The difference, Nesbitt said, is that in Stanhope there is only the township to run while in Anson, Hindon and Minden there is a town and township to run which requires more experience.

For his part, Kenney has been making his positions clear this past month through advertisements in the Minden Times, dealing with topics such as education and media.

Incumbent deputy reeve Ed Pergolas is being challenged for that position by Brendan Berube, an employee of the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Five people are running for the three councillors' positions including former reeve Lyle McKnight, and incumbent Pat Burk. They are being challenged by Verne Graham, Bob Sisson and Bern Berry.

There are three new candidates for the school board, John Cooper, Jim Davis and Wendy Ladurantaye.

An all-candidates evening will be held this Saturday night in Minden at 7:30 at the Archie Stouffer Public School.

Snowdon council back in

By LEN PIZZEY
Editor

Voters in Snowdon Township will have to wait until Wednesday evening to find out if they'll have a chance to go to the polls on November 12. At the end of the nomination period on Monday, one council seat remained unfilled, and if more than one candidate files papers on Wednesday, there will be an election.

Clerk Geoff Wynne said Tuesday that one person who took out a nomination paper before Monday's deadline did not file it, but it might be received on Wednesday.

If not, council would be acclaimed with one seat vacant, and could then fill it by appointment or by-election.

Incumbent reeve Bob Vick, a 19 year veteran of the position, has been acclaimed, as have deputy reeve Dwayne Wruth, incumbent councillor Ron Burk, and incumbent councillor Jack Hills.

Brian Neville, who served on council last term, has stepped down.

Snowdon will be represented on the board of education by incumbent trustee George Simmons.

Stanhope candidates submit for more than one position

By LEN PIZZEY
Editor

There was still some political maneuvering underway in Stanhope Township on Tuesday, following Monday's 5 p.m. deadline for nominations.

Two hopefuls, Dale MacDonald and Elgin Stouffer had filed for more than one position, Stouffer for reeve, deputy reeve and councillor, and MacDonald for deputy reeve and councillor. Both men had until 5 p.m. Tuesday to withdraw any or all of their nominations, and if neither did so, they would have to run for the position stated on the first paper they filed. In Stouffer's case that would be deputy reeve, and in MacDonald's, councillor.

Incumbent reeve Harry Davis faces a challenge from Penny Googh in addition to the possible challenge from Stouffer. Googh was an unsuccessful candidate in the 1982 election.

Elvin Johnston will seek the deputy reeve's position, and could get it by acclamation if Stouffer and MacDonald opt to challenge other seats.

Others seeking council seats are incumbent Ann Barker, former reeve Jim Harrison who did run in 1982, Paul Harrison, a newcomer to the political scene, and C. Jock Mavor, a year round resident also seeking his first term on council.

LeRoy Eager has been acclaimed as Stanhope's trustee on the Haliburton County Board of Education.

An all candidates meeting will be held in Stanhope this Saturday night.

becoming more discriminating and expect better facilities all the time. As well, visitors want to become involved in local communities. The desire for physical fitness also is effecting what people demand of tourist resorts.

Fitness is not a fad of the 80's," Eakins said, "but a daily requirement for the greater part of the North American population," and resorts must offer a variety of sports and fitness facilities if they hope to compete.

"The greying population" is also become a major force in tourism, Eakins said, as the number of senior citizens increases.

"We cannot rest on our laurels" and rely on Haliburton County's natural beauty to ensure tourism growth, Eakins told his audience. He urged area tourism operators to "be receptive" to his ministry's new "visit Ontario" program, to participate in travel trade shows, and get to know the ministry's tourism consultants.

He also commended the community "for not losing sight of tourism goals", and being sensitive to the needs of tourists.

One seat contest in Dorset

Businessman will try to oust MacDonald

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

Voters in Sherborne et al will only have to put one cross on the ballot since all positions except reeve will be acclaimed.

Businessman Kel Stone has thrown in his hat against incumbent reeve and county warden Dalton MacDonald. Stone has not held a seat on council. He is owner of the Hollow Valley Lodge and Tavern.

Deputy reeve will be incumbent Don Shortreed and the three councillors will be incumbent Joyce McKey, incumbent Ed Vallance and newcomer Ben Minns, owner of the Nordic Inn resort in Dorset. Incumbent David Villard will be acclaimed as the school board trustee.

No candidates evening has been organized as yet.

Race is on

Election fever is beginning to spread throughout Haliburton County, following the close of the official nomination period on Monday afternoon. While not every seat in every municipality will be contested, there will be fewer acclamations than in some previous elections, a sign perhaps of a growing awareness of the impact of local politics, or of the significance of the issues all councils face.

Some of the best news has come to Dysart et al voters. Incumbent reeve Murray Fearrey, who held off on his decision until the final day of nominations, will let his name stand for reeve, and he is unopposed. While in many municipalities acclamations are a sign of apathy, Fearrey's acclamation can be taken as evidence of the exceptional leadership he has shown in recent years - leadership reflected in the community's growth and development, and that prompts no challengers.

There was also some positive news about the deputy reeve's chair. It will be contested by no fewer than four candidates - Harold Bannon, Bill Davis, Bob Nichol and Curry Bishop. Each man no doubt will have something to say about the direction council should take, and about the role of a deputy reeve in promoting change and ensuring stability. Their campaigns ought to prompt some useful debate in the community, and that is an important aspect of the election process.

The rest of the Dysart slate represents a "stand pat" attitude, with the exception of Ward Two, where incumbent John Parish will be challenged by Miles Roberts. Voters might have wished for a livelier race, but the incumbents are not unworthy of acclamation.

It appears then, that there is a good balance in Dysart between change and the 'status quo'. And that bodes well for the coming term that, as Dysart reeve Murray Fearrey indicates elsewhere in this issue, will bring substantial pressures to bear on council.

Apathy

People who own property in Snowdon and Glamorgan Townships appear to be suffering from a very serious case of apathy about municipal affairs. As of 5 p.m. Monday, at the close of the official nomination period, only four people had indicated an interest in serving on council, leaving one seat in each municipality vacant and almost certainly ensuring that there would be no election in either jurisdiction. That could change if more than one person files papers for the council seats on Wednesday, but the possibility appeared remote.

Most voters would readily acknowledge that serving on council is a job that brings a great many headaches and few rewards, but if everybody abandons it to 'the other guy', the entire system of local politics would break down.

It isn't quite that serious yet in Glamorgan and Snowdon, but it may soon be if no one other than the people who will be acclaimed this year pays attention to municipal affairs.

Sign it

Once again this week, someone sent a letter to the editor without signing it. And that's too bad, because it was a well written letter about a topic that the writer believed would be of great interest to many Echo readers.

We're always glad to receive letters to the editor, and we publish them without exception if they are signed, reasonably serious and contain no libelous or slanderous remarks. We never shy away from criticism, and believe that everyone has a right to make their views public through the newspaper. For legal reasons, however, as well as for reasons of credibility, all letters must be signed. Don't go to the trouble of writing a good letter and then sending it to us unsigned.

Charity alive in Haliburton County

To the Editor

To The Editor:

Charity is very much alive in Haliburton County. In a recent appeal to members of the local Anglican, B'hai, Roman Catholic, and United congregations, sufficient funds were immediately raised to assist a man in South India who urgently needs a heart operation. Through HAVE's Walk For Wells and Walk For Water 18 pure drinking water wells have been drilled within the past few months, in villages near Hyderabad and Bangalore, India. Currently, a few teachers are considering how best to help a music teacher (and his family) who teaches blind children in Alwaye village, Kerala, India - while he is attending a school to upgrade his teaching skills. Charity has not only begun at home, it has been extended to those in desperate need on the other side of the same global community.

'Election-central' ... well, sort of

by Len Pizze

We were joking in the office on Monday that the Echo had suddenly become election central, what with the clacking of typewriters and the lights on our telephones lit up as we made calls to the 10 Haliburton County municipalities to compile lists of who was running. Unlike the 'election centrals' of the television networks, however, we didn't have the benefit of a computer to sort out all the names and positions. But then a computer might have been just as confused as we were by all the maneuvering and multiple filing of nomination papers. In Bicroft - the smallest municipality in Haliburton County but apparently the most politically controversial - no fewer than 13 people filed papers for five seats. If none of them withdrew by Tuesday's deadline, Bicroft may also have the distinction of printing the longest ballot. At the other extreme were Snowdon and Glamorgan, where only four people filed papers for five seats, leaving one in each municipality

At the high school in Haliburton on Saturday, November 2 (7:30 p.m.) the third, Haliburton Artists Variety Evening will take place. The following artists will perform: Glenn Carter, Ellen and Ked Hadley, John Miller, Gordon Munro, William Sherwood, Nancy Robichaud, Melissa Stephens, Mary and Richard Stouffer, and Rick Vaughan. These artists from Haliburton and Toronto will provide us with a wide variety of excellent music. This November 2 performance will have something for all ages and tastes.

Admission to the concert is free. However, all donations will go towards providing school wells in the Gambia, West Africa. HAVE will supply official receipts for Income Tax purposes; and CIDA has indicated that it will match dollar for dollar all monies which HAVE receives for developmental projects in Third World countries. At this annual concert County residents and visitors will have another opportunity (a) to hear and meet top notch performers at home and (b) to assist some less fortunate persons abroad to help themselves.

vacant. Then there was Stanhope, where Elgin Stouffer filed papers for reeve, deputy reeve and councillor, and Dale MacDonald filed for deputy reeve and council. That meant that Elvin Johnston, who also filed for deputy reeve, could get in by acclamation, or contest a three way race, depending on who withdraws what on Tuesday.

In Dysart, no one knew until Monday whether Murray Fearrey would take another term as reeve, or step down and leave the door open for someone else to get in by acclamation or election battle. His decision resolved that problem positively, but it also opened the door for a four way race for the deputy reeve's chair. If no one withdraws from that contest, it should be a lively one. Some people have said that it might bring back some flavour of earlier times, when municipal politics in Dysart and elsewhere were as likely to divide family and friends as a civil war or a provincial election.

In Minden, Gary Kenney and Sinc Nesbitt should be the catalyst for some strong loyalties as they take a run at the reeve's chair, while Ed Pergolas, whose disagreement with many if not most of Kenney's views has been civil but

On a recent Thursday afternoon a woman from Haliburton Lake paid a visit to my office to report that a very large raccoon was snuggled down near the door at the Laundromat in the Boice Plaza holding two or three people inside the laundromat as 'hostages'. The woman was quite excited when I first started to talk with her. She told me that she was inside the laundromat with the others and all were afraid to come out. There was no phone in the building to call for help so the woman came out the front door, only to find Mr. Raccoon starting to come toward her. When she made motions for it to move it wasn't afraid and stood in front of her. She finally got over to my office and reported to me that there was a possibility that the animal was rabid. It was too late to reach the office of the Ministry of Natural Resources so we both jumped in my car to take a look at the animal. When we arrived at the laundromat there he was, still sitting near the front door. We were fortunate in that we met Bruce Sawyer, one of the local barbers, just leaving work. I knew that if anyone could tell us about 'coons it had to be Bruce. Bruce has been a great outdoorsman all of his life and has spent a great deal of time hunting and fishing. He told us that it was very unusual for a raccoon to stay in the same spot for that long but it was his opinion it was too fat to be rabid. He moved the raccoon with a pole and it dashed over and ran up a sign post and stayed there for about an hour. It later moved off to another location and we haven't seen it since.

Voting day for municipal elections has been set for Tuesday, November 12. This will be the day that you make your choice of the candidates you would like to see run the affairs of your particular municipality. From now until election day candidates will be in one way or the other out to seek your support. You will also have the opportunity at the various 'Meet the Candidates Nights' to listen to what the aspirants to various offices will have to say. As far as I am concerned there is one election tactic that I just can't stand. That's when a candidate gets up at a public meeting and says, 'If I am elected I will work for you to the best of my ability.' If this is all that this particular candidate has to offer he or she shouldn't be running for public office. Let's make sure that each candidate gets up and states his or her platform and what they would like to see accomplished in the three years that lie ahead.

After a summer recess, Monmouth Senior Citizens' Club have started their weekly meetings on Tuesday afternoons, beginning with lunch at 12:30 p.m., followed by a short business meeting. Following business the card players assemble for euchre and cribbage.

Brian Hunter dropped into the office recently with a clipping from a newspaper of a 'Ripley's Believe it or Not' column. Brian was telling me that most people are of the opinion that the Bombardier company built the first snowmobile. According to Ripley the first snowmobile was made in 1917 by Virgil D. White, an auto dealer in Ossipee, New Hampshire, who converted a model T standard roadster by switching the front wheels to the rear, adding chains, and placing skis on the front. I thought you snowmobile enthusiasts would be interested in this bit of information.

The Haliburton Pastoral Charge of the United Church celebrated its anniversary with services at Ingoldsby and Haliburton last Sunday. The guest preacher was Rev. Henry Getz (former area minister of the Northern Pastoral Region).

The Haliburton Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion sponsored a bus trip recently to the Grand Ol' Opry in Nashville. The bus was filled to capacity with members of the Legion and others heading away for the weekend with the highlight being a visit to the Grand Ol' Opry on Saturday.

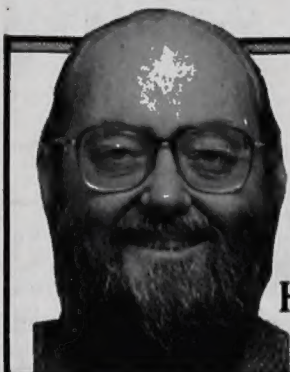

A retirement party put on by the employees of the Municipality of Dysart was held at the Dysart Community Centre auditorium on Friday evening, October 11 in honour of Earl Schellenberg, who was retiring as an employee of the municipality. We join Earl's many friends in wishing him many years of good health and happiness in his retirement.

Sometimes it's hard to believe just how fast the time flies. It's also hard for most of us to imagine that there are just a little over two months before Christmas. Speaking on the subject of the upcoming winter, weather reports that we have heard seem to vary from a lot of snow to very little. For the sake of business and the economy here in the Highlands of Haliburton, let's hope and pray that we will get plenty of snow so that we can carry on with the winter business.

I wonder if winter can be far off. Just recently I noticed Pam Iles on the tennis court at the Rotary Beach in Haliburton taking down the nets. I have to agree with Pam in the fact that there will be very few days left now to play tennis.

We would like to take this opportunity to welcome the Hackson family and Janet and Gord Pye to the business community. They are the new owners of Fort Irwin Marina.

Radio in shower idea is all wet

The view from here

Harvey M. Clarke

Radio has been with us for a long time, and there are still lots of people around who were amazed when a way was found to plug your set in -- no more wet or dry batteries to charge and replace.

My generation was the one that saw plug-in radios used as murder weapons, too. The villain just dropped a plug-in set in the bathtub with the victim and zap! Personally, I never even liked to get a transistor radio too close to the bathtub...

As a life-long radio nut, I tried all the early sets that were installed in the arms of eyeglasses, and the early wrist radios a la Dick Tracy. We had great hopes for such things, but in those days I don't think we ever imagined seeing hundreds of people with tiny Sony Walkmans plugged into their ears on buses, on bikes and on the streets -- jogging, yet!

Our generation was the one that saw plug-in radios used as murder weapons, too. The villain just dropped a plug-in set in the bathtub with the victim and zap! Personally, I never even liked to get a transistor radio too close to the bathtub...

The many innovations in radio's past, plus my Alfred Hitchcock-exaggerated fear of radios and water all came together the other day with a mailing from Sears for, of all things, an AM-FM Water Resistant Radio!

"Perfect for the bathtub baritone...or the shower soprano!" exclaims the headline. "How many times have you missed the morning news or weather report because it was time to step into the shower? Now you can shower with 'Shower with Music' -- the water resistant radio especially designed for shower and bathtub singers. You'll never miss the sports or traffic update again!"

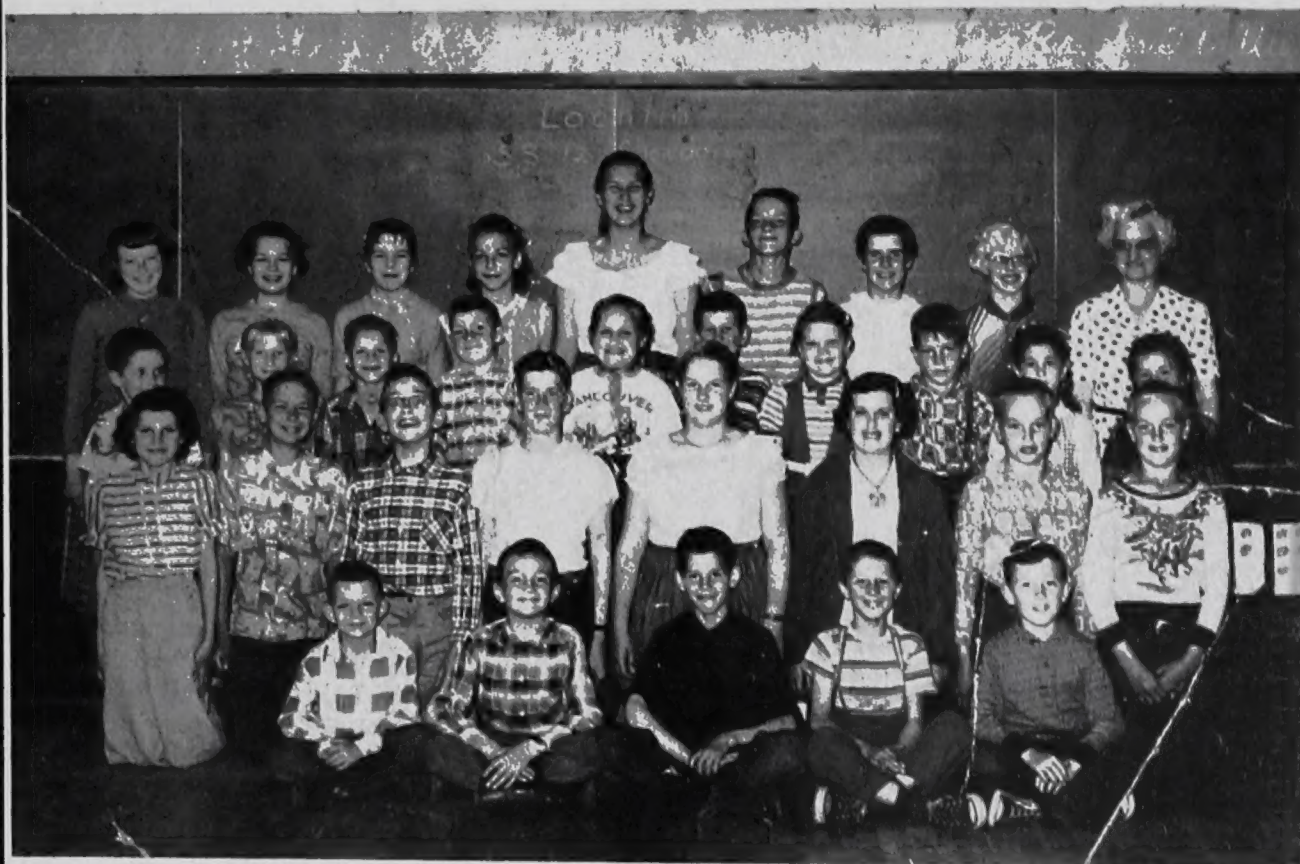

This scientific marvel comes attached to another one -- velcro. That's the manmade strip of burrs that sticks anything to anything, and sounds like you've just ripped something important when you undo it. In this case, you stick one part of the velcro to the tiles on your shower wall, and they already have a strip on the back of the 'water resistant' radio.

Now if you're one of those people who couldn't wait to pop your thirty bucks in the mail so you could be the first on your block with this little gem, please don't get mad at me for commenting. Some people may think you're all wet, but I'm always for new ideas. And no one with this much imagination deserves to see his brainchild go down the drain...

Rather, I'd like to see our clever inventor rich beyond his wildest dreams. My objective is rather simple, although I must admit there are a lot of bothersome details that I haven't seemed to be able to work out as yet.

But what I would like to be able to do -- somehow -- is get this nice, private, indoor radio to become the latest status symbol and fad with all those guys who love to drive up and down with their multi-megawatt car radios at full blast. Yes, and with all the husky chaps who like to lug their hernia-sized ghetto blasters up and down the beaches, while we're at it.

We might end up trading air pollution for a little water-pollution, and it strikes me that some of these guys could probably stand a good hot bath, too.

There can be life after volleyball

Northern Lights

Virginia Muenzel

I have this friend. At least, she said was my friend, though what friend would go and volunteer my aging body to participate in a volleyball game, I'll never know.

What happened was that the night school course we had signed up to take was dropped due to lack of interest. And we were looking around for something else to occupy our time. Someone in Judy's pottery class invited her to come play volleyball. She said sure, and I'll bring my friend.

After she convinced me she wasn't trying to do me in, I decided to give it a go. But I'm no dummy. Judy and I have this other friend. And she's got a hot tub. So we got this other friend to go with us, figuring she'd be sure to invite us to an apres-volley, relaxing plunge in the bubbly waters. And it would have worked too, except that along the way we acquired tickets for the first concert of the season.

You know how you don't go anywhere for weeks. Then, suddenly you find yourself booked to go off in twelve directions in a one or two day period. Even though at six o'clock the couch looked mighty inviting, I joined Judy on the volleyball court. And not without some trepidation. It was a long time ago that I was the sporty jock in high school. The joints and reflexes aren't what they used to be. I envisioned myself in casts and slings. Or perhaps, even sprawled on the gymnasium floor. With a curious ambulance crew looking down at me, while one of them valiantly tried to restart my protesting heart.

But I didn't die, and as you can see, I can still type. I even remembered how to play the game before the longest two hours of my life ended. We're going to go back next week. (If the swelling in Judy's hand goes down.)

It was a bit tricky getting to the concert on time. We had five minutes to change from sweat pants to dressy duds, and let the van roll down the hill to the other school. But we made it. Although when I said hello to my doctor afterwards, he noted that I was "just a bit flushed".

And every time we go back to Buffalo, folks down there keep asking me "Don't you get bored up there with nothing to do?"

Is AIDS creating a new morality?

Question

by Catherine Denholm

It is interesting to note that a new moral code may evolve out of the AIDS disease.

Back in the pre-Victorian era the sexual orgies, which were commonplace in all levels of society, came to a standstill -- not because it was suddenly seen as sinful or wrong but because the sexually transmitted diseases of syphilis and gonorrhea had reached epidemic proportions.

In those times no one wished to talk about disease as a reason for adopting a monastic lifestyle so a moral umbrella was drawn over that part of living. This moral idea became a part of the religions of the times which put it all in the realm of sin. As soon as something was considered sinful then proper punishment was instigated which became suitably cruel, particularly for the poor, who had no money or family connections to cover their tracks. Sex became a family affair and something which was never discussed. It was in this way that the sexual part of living continued until the 1960's when the sexual revolution began with the advent of penicillin.

At last there was a cure for venereal diseases. With this worry out of the way the moral side relaxed and sexual freedom became something akin to debate as another means, supposedly, of communication. No longer were premarital relations considered a sin even by most churches.

Now AIDS is sending folks back to a Victorian lifestyle and again no one wants to use the disease as the reason for a change of attitude so, undoubtedly, a new moral code will emerge as the reason for celibacy. All the excesses of the last few decades will be seen as decadent as the orgies of old.

Trips highlight minister's agenda

Queen's Park

by John Eakins, MPP

This week's column represents the return of my Queen's Park Report after a four month absence, a period in which many changes have taken place in both the government and in my schedule.

On June 26 on the front lawn of Queen's Park, I participated in the cabinet swearing-in ceremony where I became the Minister of Tourism and Recreation. As a minister of the Crown, I have assumed many new responsibilities. While I've continued to attend many functions in Victoria-Haliburton, my ministerial responsibilities have taken me across Canada.

In July I attended the Ontario Games for the Physically Disabled in Windsor. Over 800 athletes participated at these games including Lindsay's Mike Hannah who competed and won medals in several track and field events. In addition it's always great to take part in the award presentations at the Lindsay 10 kilometre run which was held on July 27. This annual event, like so many other athletic competitions in Ontario, is successful because of the organization and hard work of many volunteers.

One of the highlights of August was the success of Ontario's team at the Canada Games in St. John, New Brunswick. Ontario won the 1985 games for the third time in a row. Ontario also set a record for three victories in succession -- the first time this has taken place since the game's inception in 1967 in Quebec City.

Attending the games gave me an opportunity to send a signal to our athletes that Ontarians recognize and support their efforts. In addition, I was able to meet my provincial counterparts and federal minister of sport Otto Jelinek.

In just over two years, Canada will attract world attention when Calgary hosts the 1988 Winter Olympics. In early September I, along with provincial ministers of sport and recreation from across the country, met in Calgary to tour the facilities and discuss major issues. I'm happy to report the organizers in Calgary are well on their way to presenting a world class athletic site.

While the Legislature at Queen's Park has not been sitting during the summer, weekly cabinet meetings continue. In Premier Peterson's efforts to provide an open government, we are holding some of these meetings outside of Toronto where possible. While the majority of meetings will be held in Toronto, my colleagues and I met in London during the summer, and recently in Haliburton.

In late September the provincial cabinet met at Pinestone Inn and Country Club where we prepared for the fall sitting of the Legislature. Holding the meeting in Haliburton gave my colleagues a chance to see the country that I'm always telling them about.

In addition to my travels throughout Ontario, I also visited Japan during the last week of September. In addition to the importance of Japan as a major trading nation, Japan is also important to the tourism industry in Ontario. An increase in Japanese tourist dollars would do much to bolster the provincial economy. While the provincial ministry can promote Ontario as an important destination, it will be up to our tourism industry to ensure our visitors enjoy their visit and return. The itinerary on the Japanese visit was hectic, but I did find time to visit Lindsay's twin city of Nayara.

The demands on the minister's time are great, but my highest priority continues to be the people of Victoria-Haliburton. In recognition of this, two part-time assistants in the Lindsay office have been promoted to full-time. Karen Howe and Carol Penny staff the office throughout the week and can help you with many of the problems or requests that you may have.

Members of the provincial legislature returned to Queen's Park this month to begin the fall session. While debates in the house have now resumed, the work of my colleagues in the government continued throughout the summer months.

Since taking office in June we have been working hard to address a number of important issues. An example of this is Health Minister Murray Elston's announcement that he will be conducting meetings with groups and individuals throughout the province regarding the system of medical extra billing. Mr. Elston called on Ontario's district health councils to organize one-day community consultations on extra-billing in nine Ontario cities. Through these meetings, consumers, health care providers and public interest groups will be invited to make presentations.

In early September I visited Japan where I promoted Ontario, not only as a destination for tourists, but also as an ideal province to conduct business with. Earlier in the summer Hugh O'Neil, the Minister of Industry, Trade and

Life in the fast lane is too much

Sunny Side Up

Martha Perkins

My dog Chico and I are finally beginning to recover from culture shock. It's a bit worse for Chico as she's been a Haliburton lass for all of her seven years but you would think I, the Ryerson graduate, would have had no problem adjusting to life in the fast lane after only spending one month in the wild woods of Haliburton. Such was not the case.

Luckily for the two of us, we eased our way into Toronto the Good by taking a rest stop in Lindsay for a fun-filled Friday night. Never before would I say Lindsay was a bustling metropolis but compared to life in a cottage on the lake, anywhere with two discos and shopping plazas seems exciting beyond comparison.

I used to think that dogs instinctively knew how to relieve themselves on fire hydrants but when you aren't brought up with one to practise the three-legged stance on, I guess they take a little getting used to. All my parents needed was stains on the carpet just as they were showing people through the house but I trusted Chico's bodily functions would start working again by morning. Sure enough, as the two of us tramped around the block at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, Chico began squatting like her old self, though I never did see her try to do it on three legs.

You have never seen a more subdued dog, or small town reporter for that matter, when Chico and I finally arrived at our destination at Greenwood and Danforth. Trust that our city friends weren't even up at this witching hour and I had to throw pebbles against a window as Chico cowered from a ferocious city beast, used to concrete yards and back-alley bullies.

It took almost two hours to relax and become my old effervescent self. After all, this was the girl who spent a year living in the red light district of Toronto, watching all the tourists slow down and point at the prostitutes, hoping no one from Lindsay caught you walking from school. Toronto was supposed to be old hat.

It was so hard to explain to everyone how I could enjoy living three hours away from Canada's cultural mecca, away from the sirens, traffic, boxed yards and competitive pace. Wasn't I lonely? Wasn't I depressed? Was I making any friends? Wasn't I getting cabin fever? Did I cry myself to sleep each night? I got more sisterly talks that weekend than I did going through puberty.

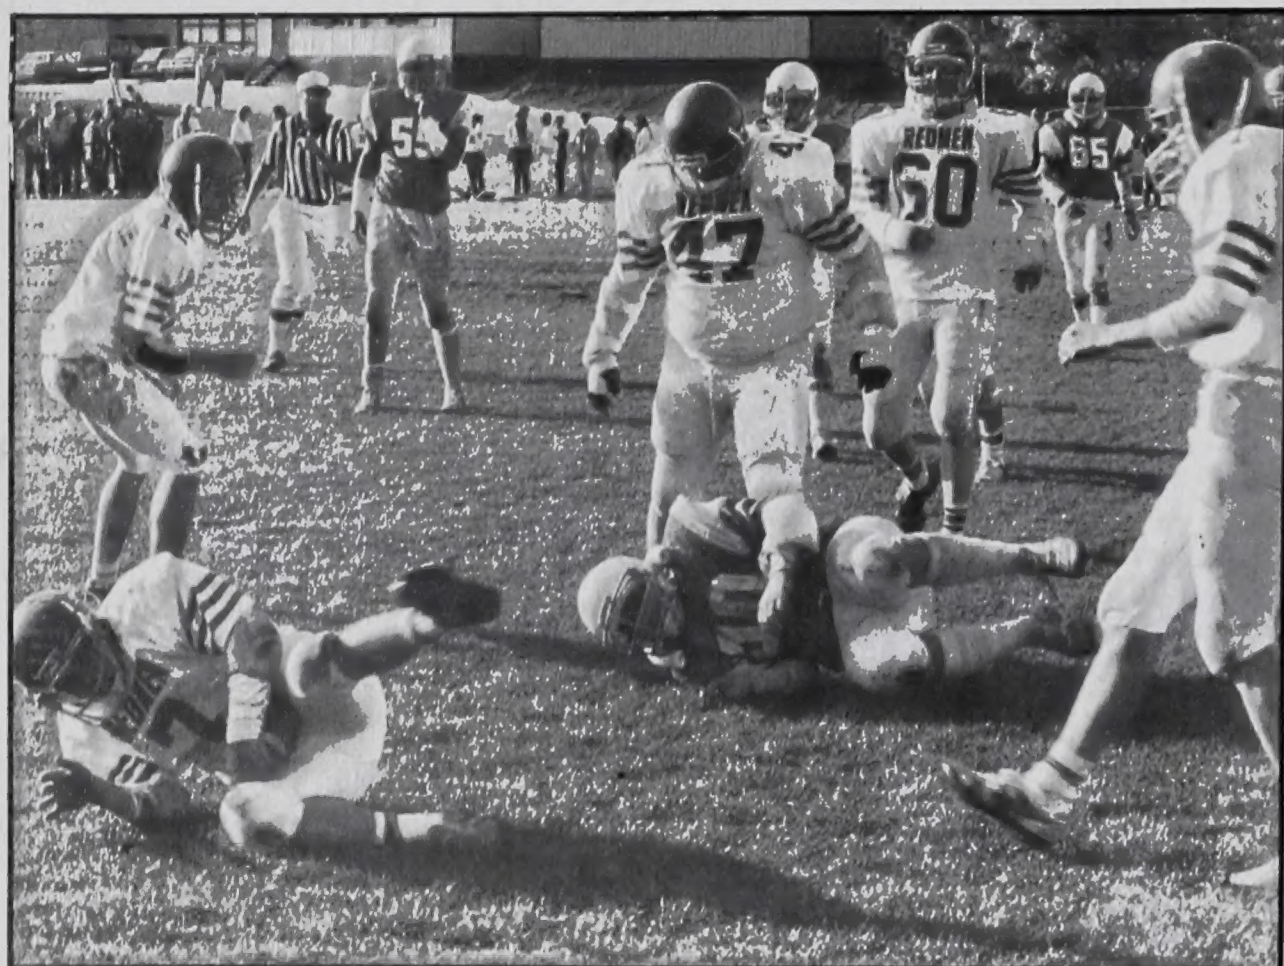

I must admit it though -- I am not a true Haliburtonian yet. I was envious of my friends as they told me what they were doing and who they were meeting. My girlfriend Rose (from Lindsay of course) and I stayed up until three a.m. talking our hearts out and devouring a bag of chips. She's working on a film, going to parties, earning twice as much as I am waitressing in a downtown hot spot. Not that I considered packing it all up and moving to the southern hemisphere again, but there is a part of me which is the city girl, liking the fast pace, sirens and boxed-in lifestyles.

But the part of me which was used to living in a cottage by myself, with plenty of roaming ground around me, came out in full force Sunday when the rest of my family descended upon me. I had never really noticed how many of us there are, even with two of my sisters missing.

There never can be silence when we are all together, it's impossible. Dinner is a social event and as we are stuffing our faces with double helpings of the main course and triple desserts, our tongues are still wagging. My grandmother always wanted us to be like the Waltons, holding hands around the table as we'd say grace, acting sweet and pure and innocent. Little did she know eating dinner was more like question period at the

Redmen losses bring season to an end

A Haliburton Senior Redmen ballcarrier makes sure he retains possession following a tackle near the sidelines. Both HHSS football teams were eliminated from playoff competition last week, bringing a disappointing end to their season. The Seniors lost a 16-8 decision to I.E. Weldon as a result of a number of second half turnovers, while the Juniors were edged out 8-6 in a game in Fenelon Falls.

Turnovers helped Weldon gain win

The football season came to an early end for Haliburton high school's Junior and Senior teams, both of which went down to defeat in Kawartha West semi final games last week.

The Seniors dropped a 16-8 decision to I.E. Weldon despite the home field advantage, while the Juniors were defeated 8-6 in Fenelon Falls.

Haliburton felt confident that they could beat Weldon in the senior game, but key turnovers spelled the difference in the second half.

The Redmen got off to a fast start, scoring on their first possession as Andrew Burke went in for the touchdown and Scooter Burgess kicked the convert.

Later in the quarter the Redmen added a single when Burgess' attempt at a field goal went wide of the uprights.

One of the key plays in the game was a 55 yard touchdown run that might have put the game on ice for Haliburton if it had not been called back on a holding penalty. The Redmen failed to notch the key points, while momentum swung to the visitors.

In the second quarter Weldon got on the board when they blocked a Haliburton punt and recovered it in the endzone for six points. The convert was successful and the Redmen led 8-7 at the half.

Head coach Gary Brohman said his team believed they could beat Weldon, especially since the Redmen had notched at least seven first downs in the half to Weldon's two.

But five turnovers brought Haliburton's hopes crashing down.

The Redmen allowed a single point in the third quarter that tied the game, and in the fourth, Weldon ran in for a touchdown and converted it to lead 16-8.

With the minute flag up, Haliburton moved to within 20 yards of the Weldon endzone, but an interception brought a disappointing halt to the drive.

Earlier in the day the Juniors seized the lead over Fenelon in the first half, then watched it evaporate on a fourth quarter TD by the home team.

The Juniors were eight yards away from the touchdown in the first quarter when a pass was dropped to end the drive.

Late in the second quarter Brad Archer ran an interception in for a touchdown. A two point conversion attempt missed the mark, and the Juniors led by six.

The third quarter was a back-and-forth battle, with neither side gaining an advantage.

In the fourth quarter a Haliburton fumble gave Fenelon the ball in scoring territory and they made it count, going in for six points and notching a convert to take the lead. Fenelon also added a single point to cement an 8-6 win.

Outstanding players for the Juniors were Brad Archer, Allan Rydman, and Derek Little.

For the Senior team, Jeff Bain and Paul Allore played exceptionally well.

This I.E. Weldon ballcarrier is about to hit the turf at the hands of a Redmen tackler, who gets lined up for the play. It was a perfect day for football as the Redmen met Weldon in a sudden death semi final last week, but the results did not favour Haliburton.

Bantams get winning start

Submitted

Drillers earn win

The Debler Driller Novice team opened up its 1985/86 campaign on Sunday, October 20 with an impressive 11-2 victory over Beaverton.

The Drillers dominated the game from start to finish with sound forechecking and aggressive play. The team was led by Jonathan Bishop and Kevin Morissette; both triggered four goals and added an assist. Mark Stamp notched a pair and Kenny Teasdale chipped in with one. Mark Morissette assisted on four goals while Jackie Morrison had an assist.

Ryan Bolton's strong forechecking created many scoring opportunities. The defense corps of Jeff Teatro, Andy Billings, Curtis Bain and Mark Morissette, backed up by Peter Brohman's steady goaltending, kept Beaverton at bay throughout the contest.

The team's next outing is this coming Sunday at 5:30 against Woodville in Haliburton.

Overall, election '85 shows some positive signs of being a good one. With the notable exceptions of Glamorgan and Snowdon, voters will have choices to make, and that makes the process worthwhile.

In the meantime, we'll do our best to cover as many all candidates nights as we can to keep you up to date on what's happening in campaigns around the county. Now if only someone could figure out how Martha Perkins and I can be at the Minden and Stanhope all-candidates meetings and the HHSS awards night at the same time on Saturday night. We'd ask the 'election central' computer if we had one, but then it probably wouldn't have an answer either.

Report from Parliament

by Bill Scott MP

From time to time I am asked what an M.P. does when he is in Ottawa. Over the past twenty years that I have represented this region the Parliamentary work has changed considerably. With the age of rapid communication and changing technology has come the need for ever greater resources in our Parliamentary offices and a much greater demand on our time both in Ottawa and in the constituency.

When the House of Commons reconvened this fall all the committees of the House were revamped and each Member was placed on a number of Standing Committees. As well, a new feature of the new Standing Orders of the House provides for the establishment of a Legislative Committee to be chosen to study Bills of the House of Commons instead of the old procedure of having the Standing Committees study all legislation. I was appointed a full member of the House of Commons Standing Committee on Regional Development, the House of Commons Standing Committee on Miscellaneous Private Bills and Standing Orders and an alternate member on the House of Commons Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections. In addition to this I am a member of the Legislative Committee to study Bill C-66, "An Act respecting the reorganization of the Canada Development Corporation".

Much of my time since the reconvening of the session has been taken up with meetings of this Legislative Committee. These meetings are usually three to four times a week and range in times from eight in the morning to eight at night, usually lasting several hours.

This week the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections started consideration of the Bill on Redistribution and this committee will, I imagine, sit three or four times weekly. In addition I sit on a number of Caucus Committees which usually meet about once a week. The National Caucus meets at least once a week as does the Ontario Caucus both of which all members are expected to attend. When all these meetings are put into my schedule along with attendance at daily Question Period and participation in various Parliamentary debates, I am left with only a scarce few hours per week in which to schedule staff meetings, meet with various officials of government departments to discuss constituents' problems and respond to enquiries.

UCW hold regional rally

The Region 6 UCW rally was held in Wilberforce church on Wednesday, October 9. Seventy women registered at 9:30 a.m. from Carnarvon, Gooderham, Haliburton, Ingoldsby, Lochlin, Maple Lake, Minden, Tory Hill and Wilberforce. Mrs. Nada Vaughan, of Halibur-

The white-tailed deer population has done well by man

The white-tailed deer is unmistakable in Ontario. Its size, form, white cotton-ball tail and (on bucks only) high branching antlers distinguish it immediately from Ontario's other deer - moose, caribou and largely-extinct elk.

The white-tail has done well by man. This may seem odd, it being one of North America's most intensely hunted mammals. But its fortune rests in habitat and dietary requirements, and in our penchant for creating their ideal habitat. Browsers, deer munch their way through five to 10 pounds (three to five kg) per day of buds, twigs and saplings, favouring aspen, dogwood, maples and other tender vegetation. During the summer and fall - when they are striving to build fat reserves - this is augmented by nutritionally richer grasses, goldenrod, asters and even apples.

Dense, mature woods - like the forestsw which largely blanketed eastern Canada before European settlers' arrival - offer precious little browse at the forest floor - all of the tender growth is high, beyond reach, in the canopy.

Man's activities have benefited white-tails in a number of ways. Progressive agricultural clearing has converted the landscape into a vast checkerboard, creating literally tens of thousands of miles of edge - between farm fields, woodlots, pasture and valleys. This edge provides ideal habitat for deer, offering lush growth of shrubs and saplings, browse close to the ground, dense cover for both adults and cached fawns, and a rich variety of meadow vegetation at hand.

Abandoned farm fields have added to this checkerboard, offering for perhaps 50 years areas of lush regrowth. Wild fruit trees, sprouting from apple seeds spread in the nooks and crannies throughout the south, have augmented food.

Logging activities and forest fires have added regrowth areas to this checkerboard. And, even in extensive forested areas, road verges - which society insists upon being wide, grassy strips constitute deer feeders.

Moreover, man's intense development has sharply reduced the white-tail's natural predators. Cougar are virtually gone, believed restricted to only a few remote pockets. And timber wolves, fleeing man's progressive settlement, are gone south of the shield. Red fox and coyote have filled the vacant slot but neither is adept at capturing large prey.

Playing valuable as learning aid

By H.D. ROBINSON

As Curriculum Co-Ordinator for Haliburton County Board of Education, I would like to better acquaint you, the public, with curriculum and programme as they exist in our schools. In this regard, I have asked several outstanding educators from our system to write articles about different aspects of curriculum which, I trust, you the readers will find of interest. These articles will appear periodically in this newspaper. The first series of articles will be on different aspects of Primary education and will be of special interest to parents with children in Kindergarten or Grades 1 to 3. This week's article is written by Mrs. Ruth Gorrie, Principal of the Victoria Street Elementary School and Primary Consultant, Haliburton County Board of Education.

The Value of Play in the Learning Process

Parent: "What did you do at school today?"

Pupil: "Nothing, I just played."

If your child makes this statement you should be pleased. It means his/her teacher is well-acquainted with the ways children learn and is willing to adjust teaching strategies to meet these needs.

Since the Haliburton County Board of Education introduced the Early Identification programme in our Kindergartens in 1979 it has been evident through our evaluation and observation of our children that there are three areas of deficit that are prominent. These are listening skills, language and gross motor skills. In our remediation programme in the Primary grades we endeavour to emphasize these areas through play situations (language games, listening times, records, tapes, TV, story reading and physical games and movement).

Parents have a great opportunity to observe their children at play. It involves communications (language) with others, listening to the ideas of others and gross and fine motor activities in movement and finger control (puzzles, pouring water). Play is the vehicle for learning these skills.

Research into children's play has accelerated recently as more and more investigators come to realize that play activity interrelates highly with development. Play allows children to form concepts and to develop in mathematics, science, language, problem solving, imagination and reasoning.

Play does not suddenly stop as the child enters a particular grade. Play is the key that helps to unlock the door to learning. A child is naturally curious and interested in exploring the environment (sand, water, earth) as he attempts to understand his world through play.

A teacher who is aware of his/her role in supporting play will better facilitate the play of children. The teacher needs to provide a flexible play environment both inside and outside of the classroom. Manipulation of materials (wood, sand, water, soil, stones, paint, etc.) and free space for interactive and fantasy play (doll centre, blocks) provide a wide diversity of intellectual and social experimentation on the part of children.

Play is not what you do when your "work" (paper and pencil) is done. Play is the work of children.

Caring teachers and parents interact and respond as the child leads in play. They may share conversation and the joy of learning through play. One needs to focus on the process in play rather than the production of material in order to act as a facilitator of children in play, which is learning at its best.

Some suggested play equipment a home could include: cardboard cartons, old pillows, wood scraps, magic markers, wool, material, stones, sand, water, shells, macaroni, seeds, toilet paper rolls, waxed paper rolls, crayons, wallpaper, dress up clothes, cereal boxes, plasticine, puzzles, records and tapes, and books - books - books.

Busy life for MP

It has always been my pleasure to greet constituents who come to see me in Ottawa and any remaining time that I have is devoted to this endeavour.

This shows you how your M.P. occupies his time in Ottawa from eight in the morning until generally about eleven at night. I hope this will give you a little insight into what is expected of us in Ottawa.

With friends and family present at the occasion, these girls were initiated into the Haliburton group of Canadian Girls in Training. The ceremony took place at the United Church on Monday evening. Bottom Technology, visited Japan as well. To compliment these visits and to promote Ontario exports in general, Mr. O'Neil will be hosting a conference on Export Opportunities in Toronto on October 22 and 23. Trade specialists from the provincial and federal governments will provide information on how to export to 17 foreign countries as well as eight metropolitan areas in the United States.

I was also happy to see positive response to our decision to open up the process of awarding government advertising contracts. In early October I announced a new process for systematically choosing agencies to promote Ontario.

The ministry's choice of an agency will be based on its capability to produce innovative, imaginative and effective advertising designed to aggressively market Ontario as a travel destination.

This decision is designed to give an equal opportunity to all firms, regardless of political stripe. Since making the announcement, I've received correspondence from a number of firms expressing their support for the new process.

Order of the Eastern Star raises money for hospital

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

Forty years ago, the wives, sisters and daughters of Haliburton members of the Masons got together and formed its sister group, the Order of the Eastern Star. With Lillian Curry as the first Worthy Matron, the group grew stronger each year and today has 142 members.

"It is a super organization and we have a lot of fun," says the Worthy Matron of the 40th year, Pearl Smith. "It's a wonderful thing to see how many people you have helped, especially at Christmas."

It is the benevolent side of the order that most people today know, since, like the Masons, the Eastern Star has a few of its own secret rules and procedures. Each year the women try to raise money to support some local organization of the Worthy Matron's choosing.

This year a cheque of $300 was presented to the Haliburton Hospital, Smith's choice because of the excellent services it provides for the sick and ailing.

"They serve so many of our own Haliburton people plus those who visit our lovely highlands," she explains. "I felt the hospital was worthy of any amount raised."

The money is raised through draws and raffles held each month at the meetings at the Orange Lodge. Not all 142 members are active, but an average of 50 people attend the monthly meetings, Smith says.

"The social end of it is tremendous," she says, referring both to the regular local meetings and the ones further afield, in different Eastern Star communities around the province. Trips are organized to visit sister organizations and there is also a grand ball held each year in Toronto, a chance to trade fund raising ideas and for some, a chance to be recognized for all the work they have done.

"You really have to be involved to get the most of the chapter," is Smith's motto. "You feel as if you're doing more and helping out a lot more."

It is easy to tell by the way she talks about her past year as Worthy Matron, the highest position in each order, that it was one of the most fulfilling and gratifying years as a member of the Eastern Star. What made it even better was her husband was chosen as the Worthy Patron and they were able to fulfill their duties together.

Each order has at least two men, the Worthy Patron and Associate Patron, both Master Masons.

It can be confusing to sort out what each position involves because of the secrecy surrounding the two groups.

"We're not a secret organization but we have secret signs and passes so we can make ourselves known anywhere in the world," Smith says. "That's just the way the rules and regulations were made many years ago."

There is a lot of memorization work involved, she says, and at the beginning of the meeting a ritual is carried out before the business commences. Minutes from the previous meeting are read and each of the several committees makes its report before the meeting breaks and it's time for refreshments.

The dress is rather formal, especially for the 18 female officers. Long white gowns are worn to the chapter meetings while long gowns of a specified colour are worn when they visit other chapters.

To become a member, the first criteria on the list is that you be related to a Master Mason. Then you are "investigated", which Smith says involves being visited by an investigating team "to come out and talk to you to see if it's what you really want to join and you're really interested."

After you are accepted and pay your dues (you can also be affiliated with other groups), there is a ceremony to welcome you into the fold. Each year, an installment ceremony is also held to appoint the officers and celebrate the achievements of the last executive. This year, Eileen and Hans Pripp are the Worthy Matron and Patron.

Because the Haliburton Hospital does such a fine job helping the people of the community, Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star last year, Pearl Smith, hands over a cheque for $300 to nurse administrator Marlene Bennett who accepts it on behalf of the auxiliary. The money was raised at Eastern Star meetings and each year the Worthy Matron picks an organization of her choosing to help.

Galway/Cavendish council briefs ...

At its most recent meeting, Galway/Cavendish council considered the following matters:

Council requested the Ministry of Transportation and Communications to approve the over expenditure of Hi-Float treatment from Nor-John Contracting Limited from $46,461.80 to $54,979.75.

Minutes of the Galway Cavendish Culture and Recreation Committee meeting of September 17 were adopted as presented.

Minutes of the Quarterly Administrative meeting of the Galway Cavendish Fire Department held September 22 were accepted as presented.

Minutes of the Minor Variance Committee meeting of September 6 were received.

Reeve Brickman's verbal report on the meeting with Harvey Township council pertaining to the proposed new landfill site for Cavendish Township, to be situated off of Highway 507 on the Forest Access Road, was received.

By-law 85-34, a by-law to rescind a previous by-law, was passed.

By-law 85-35, a by-law to hold a second advance poll, was passed.

Council will petition the Ministry of Transportation and Communications for interim subsidy from January 1, 1985 to September 30, 1985 in the amount of $376,048.61.

Council had no objection to Little Gull Marina having a propane refill compound on Concession 4, part lot 17 Cavendish subject to all regulations and restrictions from the Ministry of Energy being complied with and authorized the building inspector to issue a commercial building permit.

The clerk was authorized to prepare an agreement with Burleigh Anstruther

Township so that 17 of their ratepayers may utilize the Cavendish land fill site.

Sod turned for new gospel church

Wilberforce News

by Winnie Schofield

Intended for last week

Everyone agrees that the autumn leaves were more beautiful this year and they tell of their favourite viewing spot. We discovered an awe-inspiring display of autumnal glory after following the old Hadlington road until we reached the farm of Brian Woods. Lining the roadside and extending across the fields were hundreds of fully-leaved maples, all of a golden hue. A misty, sunless day provided an unforgettable dreamy atmosphere, a truly fairie place. One of our wishes came true when the maples held their leaves to delight the Thanksgiving visitors.

The successful launching of a new book took place on Saturday, October 12. Richard Pope, author of "Me n Len", was kept busy answering questions and autographing copies. He was accompanied by Neil Broadfoot, the artist responsible for the beautiful illustrations and the very attractive cover. Guests of honour were Leonard Holmes, about whom the stories and anecdotes are woven, his wife Ida and son Gordon. Monmouth librarian Bessie Croft along with Donna Herbert and members of the library committee provided a warm welcome and served refreshments. Book sales were brisk. It was gratifying to see such an interest shown by the public.

Here are the results of the Monmouth Swimming Program this year by the Red Cross and Royal Life Saving programs. A total of 68 children registered in the program in July. Most of them were local residents, some were seasonal. The youngest taking instruction was three years old and the oldest 15 years. Red Cross crests were earned and some well-deserved Life Saving Society crests. There were seven who received their Life Saving, one a crest and certificate, and six a Life Saving II crest and certificate. One student went on to successfully complete here Bronze Medallion Award.

From the Harcourt Chapel comes this report. The activities children and youth have resumed for the 85-86 season. The "Girls for Jesus" group are meeting on Monday evenings this year. They had their first meeting at the Sanderson home a week ago Monday. Busy Beavers Boys' Club is popular with many boys aged 6-12 years. Nearly 30 boys met last Tuesday evening for this programme which is now in its sixth year. Harcourt Chapel Young Peoples meets on Friday evenings with about 20 teenagers present at our first two meetings. This youth group has been meeting for 25 years during which many young people have had many good times.

The Chapel Sunday School continues to meet at 11:00 a.m. on Sundays with attendance near the 50 mark. Questions concerning more information about these activities or for transportation to them are welcome.

Our Wilberforce school had a very interesting visitor drop in on us last Tuesday. Mrs. Pollock, nee Cronsberry, came to look at our school. As Miss Cronsberry, this lady taught here for two years in the mid nineteen twenties. It was interesting to talk to her and have her tell us a little bit about what the school was like over 60 years ago. Mrs. Pollock asked particularly about Ross Agnew and the Millers whom she remembered quite well. Mrs. Pollock now lives in Oshawa.

Here is a list of the winners of the draw held by the I.W.A. Health and Welfare Fund, Local 2-1000 on October 14, 1985. Draw took place at the Monmouth Firehall. Fred Agnew drew the winning tickets. Turkey - Bill Green of Maynooth, #65, 338-2830. Ham - Brian Dean of Cardiff, #179, 339-2126. Gas $15.00 - Lora Woods of Haliburton, #11, 457-2038. Gas $15.00 - Albert Zammit of Maynooth, #192, 338-2441.

A very successful turkey dinner party was held at the Lloyd Watson Centre on Saturday when many people came to enjoy a delicious meal furnished by the Monmouth Agricultural Society. Hours of work spent by the group in preparation and serving brought the reward of high praise from the diners. Oh, for the ability to write a poem about that lemon pie!

About three years ago the Wilberforce Full Gospel Church was formed beginning with a handful of people who met for weekly service at the Monmouth Library. As membership increased a move was made to the Anglican church building and later to the Wilberforce school. Attendance has continued to grow as people come from as far away as Bancroft, Paulash, Highland Grove, Harcourt, etc. At the Sunday school up to 45 children are registered. The time has now come to build a church for the group. A central spot has been chosen. On Highway 121 adjacent to the home of Sam Rivers three acres of land have been purchased and on Sunday last the first sod was broken. Church leader Wayne Rutter is gratified with the support and encouragement given by the members. Material and labour have been cheerfully contributed. The new church will be a 32' x 60' log building which they are hoping to complete and occupy by Labour Day in 1986.

On October 26 the Wilberforce Full Gospel Church will present a Night of Gospel Music with the Living Temple of Napanee, Ontario. This event begins at 7:30 p.m. at the Lloyd Watson Centre. Everyone is welcome.

News from Maurine Finlay tells of a turkey dinner hosted by members of the Monmouth Senior Citizen Club on October 8 at the Lloyd Watson Centre. Invitations were extended to all seniors in the area and the occasion was also a time to bid farewell to regular members before they left for the sunny south. Everyone was welcomed by president Gerald Shackleton. Sixty-

"Blest be God Forever". Lunch was served by the Wilberforce Women. The afternoon session was started with a sing-song followed by "In Memoriam" for members who were deceased in the year. Mrs. Nada Vaughan spoke on the theme "Forgiveness - A Clean Heart" and the rally came to a close with the singing of the hymn, "Praise my Soul the King of Heaven" and the Mizpah benediction. Next year the rally will be hosted by the Carnarvon group.

Joining the recent trip from Haliburton to Stratford were ten members from the Wilberforce club. Everyone had a most enjoyable time.

A few years ago very little had been written about this section of Haliburton County during early settlement. Recent writings have provided us with a good coverage of early beginnings and we can discover past history from Nila Reynolds' "In Quest of Yesterday"; in Gertrude Miller's "Mustard Plasters and Handcuffs"; in the Monmouth Township Centennial book and in the latest publication by Richard Pope, "Me n Len". This last book is selling well. Copies are available at your library.

Candidates' night nears

Norland News

by Kelly Graham

Well, slowly but surely winter is creeping up on us. The colourful leaves we admired so short a time ago are now falling off quickly, a sure indication of impending cold weather.

Here's a few congratulatory messages to start off this week: Congratulations to Murray and Olivia Dettlor of Norland who recently celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary. Their sons Michael and Chuck took them out to dinner at the Skylon restaurant in Niagara Falls to celebrate the occasion.

Congratulations also to Bill and Debbie McDonald of Cobocok who recently had a son, Little Daniel William was born on August 20.

It's quite obvious from all the local papers that the upcoming municipal election is fast approaching. For Laxton, Digby and Longford council the 'Meet the Candidates Night' will be held on Wednesday, October 30 at the old community hall in Norland at 8:00 p.m. The evening gives everyone a chance to meet prospective members of town council before they cast their vote.

Betty Davey, of Norland and Betty Moore, of Cobocok recently returned from a 13 day trip to Canada's east coast. They describe the trip as 'wonderful' and especially beautiful with the leaves in full bloom. They toured New Brunswick, taking in the Adirondack Mountains, St. John's and St. Andrew's-By-The-Sea. They also had the opportunity to see some of New York State, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. While in New York they visited Lake Placid, the site of the 1980 Winter Olympics.

My sympathies to the friends and family of Myrtle Jewell. Mrs. Jewell recently died after a long illness.

The euchre scores from last week were as follows: Ladies - Pat Dewell, first; Viola Dickson, second; Mildred Jewell, lone hands; and Judy McDonald, consolation. Men's - Hilda Chynoweth, first; Dorothy Brown, second; Mary Montgomery, lone hands; and Audrey Thrasher, consolation. In bridge the winners were Peggy Saunders, first; Miriam Holland, second; and Ed Clark, consolation.

Blaine Sawyer of Newmarket visited his parents, Ken and Ruth on the weekend.

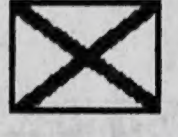

Helen McKenna of Timmins is a guest of Ken and Shirley Rapson this week.

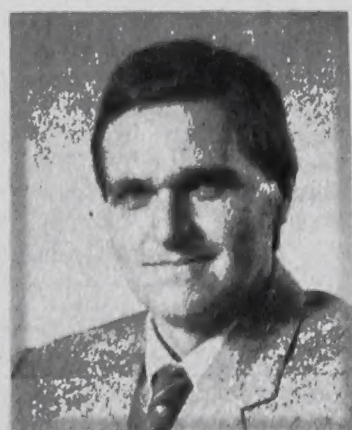

Speedy recovery is wished for Ruth Bain at Civic Hospital, Peterborough, where she had to undergo surgery.

A bridal shower was held on Sunday at the Centre for Jenny Barry who is to be married on November 2.

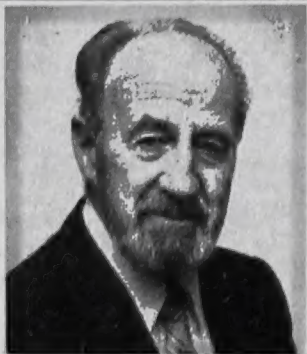

Many friends and relatives helped to surprise her with the shower gifts.

Several people from the West Guilford population attended and enjoyed immensely the concert given by the Devonian Duo, Susan Hoepner on flute and Robert Kronstead at the piano on Monday evening at the high school. This was the first of five community concerts. The couple are exceptionally gifted and gave us a beautiful evening of music.

Homemakers are the sick's helping hands

For 12 years the Red Cross has helped people stay at home

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

Audrey Burke and Kitty Baker live miles apart, and probably never have met, but the two women share something special.

Forty years ago, Mrs. Burke discovered she had Multiple Sclerosis. She has spent the last 10 of those years confined to a bed, paralyzed from the neck down.

In August, Mrs. Baker suffered a stroke and found she wasn't able to do all the chores around the house the way she used to. She needed some help while recuperating.

A walk a day with homemaker Audrey Holden will speed up Kitty Baker's road to recovery

Luckily for these women, and many others in the area with similar concerns, the Red Cross Homemakers Service is going strong in Haliburton County.

"She's a real person," says Mrs. Burke of her homemaker, Diane Pratt. "She's friendly and does the work up nicely...she's quick at doing it."

Three mornings a week, Pratt arrives at the Burke's farmhouse just outside of Lochlin, ready and eager to give David Burke a much-deserved break and Audrey Burke some professional tender loving care.

"You know your day has really been put to use and you're not wasting time," is what Pratt says keeps her going. She first became a homemaker because it was the only job available five years ago; now she does it for the personal satisfaction.

The two women get along famously. Mrs. Burke lies on a bed set up by the two windows in the living room, pictures of her smiling grandchildren mounted on the wall beside her. As Pratt feeds her a home cooked meal, the women talk about children and friends, their ease and familiarity with each other obvious from their tone of voice.

Not only does Pratt cook some of the meals, but she also tidies the house and gives Mrs. Burke baths and basic care. As part of her training, Pratt was taught how to change a bed with a person in it but, unlike some of the other nursing care services, such as the Victorian Order of Nurses, she is not qualified for other jobs such as administering prescriptions.

"It's quite a sense of accomplishment," says Pratt about her feelings after all the little chores are done. "You certainly feel needed and the people who have troubles all have stronger personalities."

Further east, right in the heart of Haliburton, the home of Wes and Kitty Baker is a familiar one among the residents. The couple is like a village institution, their names popping up in conversations here and there and their faces known to almost everyone.

When Kitty Baker got sick, everyday chores piled heavily on the shoulders of her husband and so homemaker Audrey Holden was brought in to help.

"I was kind of scared," says Mrs. Baker, remembering when Holden first arrived. "I just didn't know what to do. I didn't know how I was going to feel but I really enjoyed it."

Holden started coming three mornings a week, giving Mr. Baker a chance to get out of the house, lending Kitty a hand to get back on her feet and basically being a great help with the household chores. When Kitty started getting better and Holden only had to come twice a week, Mrs. Baker felt quite heart-broken.

"She'll just be like a sister to me. It seemed terrible when she just started coming two days a week."

For Holden, who had moved to Haliburton in June, training as a homemaker filled in a gap while she was looking for full-time employment. A former food specialist at a Toronto high school, she "just felt like I wanted to do something and

When Audrey Burke became paralyzed from the neck down from Multiple Sclerosis, a Red Cross Homemaker, such as Diane Pratt, could step in to help her through homemaking I've gotten to know a lot of people."

In the summer time she was very busy but now that a lot of the part time residents have left, things have quieted down. As well as helping the Bakers, she works at another home (another older lady just recovered from a broken arm and doesn't need her services any longer.)

"These people are so grateful of everything you do, it's a pleasure coming here," she says of the Bakers. Every day she takes Mrs. Baker on a walk to build up her strength and in the near future the two are going to start on the Christmas baking.

All over Haliburton County, the 18 homemakers in the region give an average of 270 hours of care each week to the sick and elderly. They take much of the burden off other health care institutions such as hospitals since the patients can stay at home with the extra help.

"The elderly don't want to go into a nursing home," says assistant supervisor Ruby Way. "It's quite difficult for them so there is a lot of stress."

Over the years she's noticed an increase in the need for palliative care, though most clients are referred to the Red Cross through a doctor, and just need a little extra assistance. It is sponsored by the government through OHIP and quite often, people receive financial assistance to pay for the cost.

The service has been available in Haliburton for 12 years but for the first four years it operated out of the offices of the Haliburton Kawartha Pine Ridge District Health Unit, until the Red Cross branch in Haliburton was set up.

Every homemaker has to work 120 hours until he or she takes a course which involves the study of first aid, the process of aging, nutrition and special diets, household management and stress.

"Homemakers have to have some experience in household management, they must have a desire to help and care for people, and the willingness to take the training course," says Way.

"What's most important is the ability to adjust to many different situations. It's the homemaker who adjusts to the client."

Most of the homemakers are young mothers, Way says, and are situated around the county to cut down on transportation expenses. "Even in winter if we can't get to them one day we'll get to them the next."

All of this doesn't really matter to Kitty Baker. When asked how she felt about the services Holden was providing, Mrs. Baker was at a loss for words to describe everything and ended up saying "she's just nice."

Kinmount Korner

Chris Weerdenburg is very pleased to report a really good response to table rentals for the upcoming Community Christmas Bazaar to be held at the Kinmount Community Centre on October 26 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. I'm told there may still be about four or five tables available for a rental fee of $5 each. Just give Chris a call at 488-2114 to reserve.

This will be a first time venture and if it turns out well it is hoped to be a continuing affair each year from now on, so do come out and help support. It sounds like a lot of fun and a great time to start your Christmas shopping.

Ida Young will be there with two tables of stained glass and stocking stuffer ideas. Doreen Wilkinson with here Cabbage Patch clothing and stuffed animals, Doris Barkwell with Regal supplies, Michelle Barkwell will be selling Christmas decorations, Mary-Lou Bales will be showing coasters, earrings, etc. and will be taking orders. Bonnie Wilkins and her mom-in-law will have a table of hand knitted items, Rose and Chris Weerdenburg will be selling crocheted decorating candles, hot plate mats, magnets for your refrigerator, Christmas ornaments, snowflakes, etc.

Zoie Rolfe will be there with jewellery and knitted hats, Sheila Mitchell with knitted items, dolls and padded hangers, Catherine Smith with crafts. Nancy Crego will be present with two tables full of her hand-crafts and Barbara from Fenelon Falls with home baking. Do try to be there and bring your friends. Let's get into the spirit of things.

The place to be on Saturday, October 12 was the new Norland Recreation Centre located in Ward Park at Norland's north end. Some 300 people attended the ribbon cutting ceremony, smorgasbord and danced the night away. Many people enjoyed just visiting with friends they hadn't seen in a long while. Some $3000 was realized from the festivities and will help towards other major items needed yet, in this beautiful building. Bill Scott M.P. and John Eakins M.P.P. were there to help in the ribbon cutting. Thanks to the following for everything you've done to help in any way towards this long awaited event: Norland Firefighters Association, Norland Firefighters Ladies' Auxiliary, Norland Horticultural Society, Norland United Church, Norland Pioneer Baptist Church, Norland Athletic Club, Kawartha Lakes Civic Club, Royal Canadian Legion, Cobocan, Cobocan and District Lions Club and to all the private individuals for your obvious care and backing.

There were eight tables.

Happy birthday to Audrey Belanger on October 29 and Lori Lynn Liscombe on October 31.

I'm still going for physiotherapy at Haliburton Hospital each Tuesday and Thursday and believe me Sue Wrigley is certainly a busy and dedicated young woman. When I arrived for my 11 a.m. appointment last Thursday, Sue was busy with a young man with a leg injury, another with a hand injury/ amputation, another man just preparing to leave, and of course all the folks she had tended from her starting time of 8:30 a.m. She's a lady who takes her duties very seriously and it certainly pays off for her patients. As I say each week, thanks Sue.

It certainly was nice to see so many at church last Sunday (Thanksgiving). I was pleased our daughter, Bonnie Walker, attended with me, while she was here with us for the weekend.

I hope Everett Cameron finds time to relax a little when he steps down from his long time political career next month but knowing Everett, he'll still be the

"going concern" he always was and is.

Results of St. James A.C.W. euchre party, Tuesday, October 15 are: ladies' high, Gladys Crego; ladies' low, Mary Phillips; men's high, Mike Cain; men's low, Esther Graham; lone hands, Nora Brandon.

Sincere sympathy to all the Jewell family and their many friends, Norland and area, in the death last week of Myrtle. To know her was to love her.

Well, Mr. and Mrs. Lilley have moved to Kinmount for the winter and after a busy time in moving, Bill and Dora finally hit the sack, only to be awakened in the wee small hours to a lot of noise. It turned out some Legion members decided to "shivaree" the couple. They enjoyed the whole thing once they were awake enough to know what was going on. Dora and Bill would like to thank all of you for the big welcome.

Well folks, stay well and happy, read the Echo and remember: be quick to praise, slower to criticize. I can still be reached at 488-2353.

Carnarvon News

The mini houses that Maurice Boyd built

Not everyone gets four dream houses in one small room

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

The Georgian house stands tall and stately, its two white pillars not so much for support but as symbols of wealth and largess. Beside it stands an uncompleted farm house, the wood siding almost covering the four sides.

This is quite a strange sight in Haliburton County, even stranger when you consider the buildings are in Lutterworth Estates, a collection of modular homes just south of Minden.

To see the Georgian home and the farm house, drive down Highway 35 until you reach the modular village, and wander into Maurice Boyd's den at the rear of his home.

The houses take up almost half of the small work room and stand about three feet high, tiny perfect miniatures of somebody's dream home.

"I think what I find interesting is they're all different," says Boyd, who built these two homes, as well as two others, from scratch. "Sometimes I start with a layout but then I work my own ideas into it. I try to make everything."

Everything includes the scaled-down staircase that pulls out for easy access for decorating, the floor boards that have tiny marks made to look like nails, the doors, the moulding, the potted plant that stands on the front porch, and the plexiglass windows.

Building miniatures is a popular hobby across the continent and you can buy nearly everything, including the kitchen sink, at stores which cater to the hobby.

Boyd sticks to building the houses and lets others do the decorating.

The scale must always be one inch to the foot to allow conformity among the different people making furniture and fixtures for the houses. If Boyd doesn't build the bedroom to scale, then the collector's bed is not going to look right in it and will ruin the proportion of the house.

Another thing he has to remain aware of when he's building is that "you've got to make sure everyone who is going to decorate it is able to get into it." That's why the stairs slide out, as well as the windows and a few walls.

It's the decorators who can really go wild with a miniature house. These are not doll houses, remember, and most people treat their miniatures home as an extension of their true home. You can buy cross-stitched placemats, tiny "Royal Doultons", complete kitchen sets, bedroom suites,

This Georgian-styled house may be small in stature but it is every bit as perfect as its full-sized partner and easier to decorate bathroom fixtures, plants, wall hangings, pianos, quilts, or just about anything else your imagination can come up with. If you can find it in a big home you can probably find it in a miniature home.

Sitting beside the two houses is a kitchen set Boyd built himself. The sink is the bottom half of a butter container, the type you get in restaurants. The burners on the stove are snap-off domes. The rack in the fridge and stove Boyd made from plastic. The only thing he had to buy was the kitchen tap.

"Making the detail and putting the detail into it that you want takes the longest time," says Boyd. "They tell me I have patience but one thing you have to learn to do is take your time."

His hobby has rubbed off on the rest of his family. He and his wife Dorothy are taking a course on figurines, molding a soft rubber-like material into characters like the Care Bears or the lovely ladies sitting with their southern-belle dresses spread around them. A daughter has made and upholstered a chair by herself, working from the bottom up, and her daughter enjoys attending the different shows, picking up items that catch her fancy.

It all started two years ago when the Boyds were touring around in their five-wheeler and stopped off at a store that sold miniatures in the United States. Retired since 1976, the Boyds had nearly all their possessions packed into their mobile home and if Maurice was going to start up a hobby, it had to be a small one.

"Where do you put all this stuff into a fifth wheel?" his wife asks. "I was doing a few crafts and we were missing the children and grandchildren so we decided we would move up here."

For 15 years they had been spending vacations at Miner's Bay so they knew the area well. One day when they were driving by the Lutterworth Estates they decided to drop in and inquire about buying a trailer. That was in August and shortly after Boyd had completed his first miniature house.

"Each one I start on I say 'Let's keep this one', but it always ends up going," says Boyd, adding that he needs to sell the houses so he can buy the material to make a new one. The Georgian mansion is ready to go and Boyd has already put 120 hours into the farmhouse which is still only half done. The only thing he had to buy finished were the 1900 shingles for the roof. He still has to glue each one individually though.

There are still a few more ideas floating about in Boyd's imagination to keep him busy building miniature houses for the next few years but one project he and his wife want to venture into next is making miniature people to live in his miniature houses.

Key time for deer

The result is a surprisingly large and healthy deer population in Ontario.

This is a key time in the white-tail's life cycle. Bucks, whose antlers have been growing all summer, nurtured by their velvety coating, are now commencing the rut. Polishing their antlers by rubbing them on trees and threshing bushes, they strengthen their neck muscles. Over the next couple of weeks, they'll commence the ritualized shows and jousting matches that will ensure that only the largest, healthiest bucks will sire next year's fawns.

Keep your kids in their place...

It's the law for everyone travelling in a car... but too many people don't secure their children properly.

For example:

- Small children must have harness straps fastened.
- Child safety seats must be attached to the car by the seat belt.
- When required, tether straps must be fastened.
- Shoulder belts or harnesses should not be under the arms.
- Lap belts should be low on the hips.

Child safety seats are only effective in reducing injuries when they are used properly.

Buckle them in.

Muskoka Marathon well attended

Dorset News

by Phyllis Briscoe

Intended for last week
"I slept and dreamed that life was beauty; I woke and found that life was duty."

We extend congratulations to Irene and Jack Clayton, who celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on October 12. Their three children with their families gathered at their home in Dorset to commemorate the occasion.

Birthday greetings to Linda Clark who celebrated on October 20.

There will be a Halloween Dance at the Dorset Community Centre on Saturday, October 26. This is to be a masquerade affair with prizes for the best costumes. The atmosphere is to be really spooky with decorations being in the form of an old fashioned graveyard, weird noises, et al. The charge is $5 per couple with music by disc jockey Andy MacKay. The proceeds of the dance are for the Dorset Community Centre building fund. It should be an enjoyable night. The door prize is a sight-seeing trip over Muskoka by air.

We are sorry to report the death of Ken Rose, a former resident of Dorset. Mr. and Mrs. Rose were living in Orillia. Ken died in their home there on October 9. They had many friends and acquaintances in Dorset.

We are still looking for bodies to help fill the bus going to Barrie on November 14. The trip is definitely on but the more passengers we have the lower the fare will be. So call either 766-2456 or 766-2237 for further information.

The pinnacle of beauty was reached last week as the brilliance of golds, reds, yellows and all of the shades in between stood out in all their glory among the evergreens. The leaves will soon be gone but their beauty was still available to decorate the churches, making them breathtakingly beautiful for the Thanksgiving services.

Our best wishes and kind thoughts go out to Steve Tebby, who is a patient in Toronto General Hospital. We wish him a speedy recovery.

A cure for a sore throat: chop a clove of garlic, sprinkle with salt, chew and swallow. For obvious reasons, you at least won't be spreading the infection.

Intended for last week

As most are aware one can never know everything there is to know about human nature. One can be sure only of one thing, and that is that it will never cease to have a surprise in store for you.

A bus trip to the Georgian Mall in Barris is planned for November 14 to do some Christmas shopping. The trip is open to anyone who would like to go. If you are interested please call Elizabeth Richter at 766-2458 in the near future as we have to have a certain number promising to go before a bus can be engaged for the trip.

There is to be a card party at the Rideout Community Centre on Wednesday evening, October 30 with the proceeds going to the Dorset Community Centre building fund.

Mel Barton, of White Trout Bay, has just returned from an extensive trip through Europe, visiting France, Italy and other countries. He visited war cemeteries and other points of interest. He took numerous pictures while travelling and would be happy to share them with anyone interested. Call him at 766-2326 to find out what he has to offer.

Many happy returns to Nicole McDonald who celebrated her 9th birthday on October 7, and best wishes to Dave McKay who celebrated on October 14.

There will be a Halloween dance on October 26. Details later. It is going to be a masquerade affair so get busy on your costumes.

The foot clinic will be held on Wednesday, October 16 at the Dorset School. Call 766-2237 for an appointment.

At times we hear complaints about the winding roads in our area but I am of the opinion that with the deciduous trees bursting with brilliant colours and mixed with the evergreens, when one comes to a bend in the road and observes breath-taking spectacles that meet the eye, they welcome the curves. All of the roads in the Haliburton-Muskoka area are paths of beauty right now. What a morale booster and spirit lifter which we all need at this time of year. Yes, we are a fortunate community.

H.H. A fast and easy way to chop nuts for baking is to place them in a clear plastic bag about one third full. Lay the bag flat on the table so there is only one layer and roll with a rolling pin. This method is fast, requires little effort and no cleanup.

"Just try to watch the words you say and keep them soft and sweet; you'll never know from day to day which ones you'll have to eat."

Blue Jay fever is over for another year and all of those pent up emotions that were at their height have abated. The bubble has burst and everyone can just sit back and relax unless they have bets on the series. Shedding tears over the fact that we don't have a Canadian team in there is an exercise in futility. The Jays put on a good show and we hope they will make it next year.

Dual happenings are reasons to celebrate. We congratulate Al and Sue Nickolls, who live on Paint Lake, on the birth of a baby boy on October 11 at the Bracebridge hospital. Russell Alexander weighed in at 6 lbs. and 15 oz. The date was also the fifth wedding anniversary of Al and Sue's tying the knot. Best wishes and congratulations to the happy family.

The second annual running of the Muskoka Metric Marathon took place on Sunday, October 13. The race, which was started by Len Barry, began on the Paint Lake Road, in front of Len Seedhouse's home, followed the old Baysville road to Glenmount road, crossing 117 to the Lakeshore Road, following that to 117 and following 117 to Dorset, finishing in front of the home of P. Briscoe. There were great crowds at the finish line to welcome the runners.

The first to cross the line was Walter Faion, time 1:29:51. Second, Marcel Crete, 1:39:52. Third: Louis Arbour, a 15 year old from Atwood, 1:31:46. Fourth: Barry Ault, a Huntsville high school teacher and the first Muskoka Trophy winner. His time was 1:42:8. The first to was 1:42:8. The first woman to reach the finish line was Catherine Pidcock, 2:1:45. She was 15th overall. Junior lady winner was Jane Brown, 2:5:53. Masters lady winner, Jennifer Wood of Bracebridge, 2:14:57. Joan McGuffin, daughter of Jennifer Wood, also received a great deal of publicity when she and her husband paddled across Canada on their honeymoon, came in 33rd, 2:12:52. Larry Holmes, a deaf mute, was in the top third. There were two entries from Victoria, B.C. and one from Pittsburgh, PA., 62 entries in all.

The marathon was organized by Paul Kennedy, his wife Patsy Bradbury and John Clayton, assisted by Robert McLaughlin and John Waltho. The first men's trophy was donated by Clayton's General Store and was presented to the winner by Irene and Jack Clayton. The first place ladies trophy was donated by Robinson's Store and presented by Brad Robinson. Prayers were offered by Rev. John Waltho at the start and Bill Johnson welcomed the runners at the end of the race, before the presentation of trophies.

The racers were accompanied by Don McCormack on a ten-speed as well as a four-wheeler from Tower Hill Marine. Eileen Barrie and

The Association maintains an office in Toronto with a toll-free number, 1-800-268-2727, with staff which are ready to provide information concerning funeral service to the general public. Three new staff join Lindsay Agricultural Office

During the last month, three new people have joined the staff at the Lindsay Agricultural Office. Mary Ann Yaromich is rural organizations specialist, home economics, Rob Black is the rural organizations specialist, agriculture, and Ken Mullen is the agricultural engineer.

Mary Ann Yaromich was raised on a large dairy and cash crop farm in the Niagara Region, and graduated with her degree in Home Economics from the University of Guelph in 1983, majoring in Applied Human Nutrition. Since then Mary Ann has served as rural organizations specialist, on special assignments in the counties of Wellington, York-Durham West, and Huron.

Mary Ann will be working from the Lindsay office for the coming year while Christine Dukelow is the acting regional manager for the rural organizations and services branch of the Ministry. Christine is continuing to work from the Lindsay office but has no direct county responsibilities with her new position.

Rob Black was raised on a beef farm in the Fergus area of Wellington County. He has been a very active 4-H and Junior Farmer member for a number of years. Rob graduated from the University of Guelph, majoring in Agricultural Business, last spring. He has worked for the Ministry for several summers, including one year as the provincial supervisor for the Agricrew program. This past summer, he served as summer assistant in the provincial office, responsible for regional 4-H conferences and other leadership training programs. Rob was one of four Junior Farmers who won the Ministry's travelling scholarship to the United Kingdom in 1984.

Both Rob and Mary Ann will be serving the people in Victoria, Peterborough and Haliburton Counties. Rob's position is an additional position in the area, created to provide more adequate service to the expanding number of participants in rural organizations in these counties.

Ken Mullen transferred to Lindsay as agricultural engineer recently. He served in this capacity for several years in the Markdale office and before that in the Kingston office. Ken is a native of Peterborough County. Ken replaces Dave Trudell in this office - Dave is now the agricultural engineer for Grey County.

These appointments should complete the staff changes which started last spring when several former staff members accepted new challenges in other areas of the province, with the Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Ontario Brucellosis free
A recent announcement by the Honourable John Wise in Ottawa declaring Ontario as a Brucellosis free area is a major accomplishment. This means the virtual eradication of this serious disease from the domestic cattle herd right across Canada. Ontario was the last province to be granted this status by the Federal Government.

This announcement will be of special interest to cattle producers in Victoria County, since it is less than ten years ago that this area was one of the major areas in Canada infected with Brucellosis. It is thanks to the co-operation of farmers and veterinarians with the federal health of animals staff that has made this achievement possible.

Brucellosis is a contagious disease that causes abortion and production losses in cattle, and can also cause undulant fever in humans. Canada now joins the Scandinavian countries and Switzerland as countries which have eradicated brucellosis from the cattle populations.

Cattle will now be able to move freely throughout Canada, and elimination of the disease should also aid the entry of Canadian cattle into the U.S. market.

Farm management analysis project report available

The Ontario farm management analysis project report for 1984 is now available from county agricultural offices. This year's report contains a summary of financial and physical information from over 650 farms from across Ontario, and for eight different major farm enterprises.

The information in the report comes from the enterprise analysis project in which farmers across the province voluntarily shared financial and production information on their farm for the past year with the project organizers. This is the 39th year this project has been carried out by the Ontario Agricultural College and the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Any farmer interested in comparing his farm records with averages from farmers with similar enterprises is encouraged to obtain a copy of this report.

Buckthorn identification is easy now

Do you have any shrubs which are still covered with dark green leaves, growing around your farm? If so, those shrubs are most likely Buckthorn.

Buckthorn continues to thrive in the farming areas of Victoria County, and across Central Ontario. Buckthorn is the alternate host for oat rust, a disease which affects oats and makes it very difficult for farmers to grow milling quality oats. It's those milling quality oats which have a ready market at Quaker Oats in Peterborough, and that can give a good financial return to the farmer growing them.

While Buckthorn is fairly easy to identify at any time, the best time to quickly and easily spot it is right now. The leaves on most other kinds of tree and wild shrub have either fallen off or turned colour by late October. Buckthorn leaves are still a dark green and are almost all still on the branches. So when you look at the shrub growth in a fence row and along a roadway this week, if there are any shrubs with dark green leaves still on the branches, that will most likely be a Buckthorn shrub. Lilac bushes will have light green leaves still attached.

A number of property owners have wondered whether or not they have any Buckthorn growing - take a look this week and you'll know. Information on how to control Buckthorn is available from your County Agricultural Office.

On January 2, 1986, a new hog grading system will take effect across Canada. This is just one of the topics to be discussed at the Ontario Swine Genetics Workshop, to be held at the Rock Haven Motel, Peterborough, on November 20, 1985.

Swine Genetics Seminar

On January 2, 1986, a new hog grading system will take effect across Canada. This is just one of the topics to be discussed at the Ontario Swine Genetics Workshop, to be held at the Rock Haven Motel, Peterborough, on November 20, 1985.

The program is geared toward commercial pork producers who plan to stay in the business and to swine breeders who want to increase their competitive edge.

Dr. William Ahlschwede, swine extension geneticist, University of Nebraska, will discuss the use of breeding systems to increase dollars in a commercial enterprise.

Dr. Brian Kennedy, a geneticist from the University of Guelph, will outline the use of Estimated Breeding Values in the selection of breeding stock. His co-worker from the same university, Dr. Gordon Bowman, will share his insights into the needs of the industry as seen by the commercial producer.

Charles Lalonde, Associate Director of Quality Assurance for Red Meat Products, Agriculture Canada, will outline the new grading system.

This program is provided by pre-registration only as the number of participants may be limited. Registration forms are available from the Lindsay Agricultural Office.

Legion and Opry share anniversaries

By GERALD IRISH

Branch 129 had 10 representatives at the Zone Council meeting in Woodville on October 6. Comrade Zone Commander Mel Robertson had the meeting well arranged and the reports of the various branches in our zone were most interesting. After listening to all 12 branch reports, it was evident that your Branch need not take a back seat to any of the others.

How lucky can some people be? The group that visited the Grand Ol' Opry in Nashville on Thanksgiving weekend were indeed fortunate! The performances by 29 country and western stars were in celebration of the 60th birthday of the Grand Ol' Opry and some Branch 129 members and friends were there to participate in the celebrations. Their 60th year coincides with the Royal Canadian Legion's Diamond Jubilee (60th) year.

We were entertained by such stars as Larry Gatlin and the Gatlin Brothers, Charlie Pride, Porter Wagoner, Justin Tubb, Hank Snow, George Hamilton IV, Stonewall Jackson, Wilma Lee Cooper, Jean Shepard, Del Reeves, Lorrie Morgan, Jeannie Seely, Roy Acuff and many more.

While in Nashville we visited Opryland and had a tour of the city.

This was a long trip and a bit exhausting (especially for those who had to work on Tuesday) but a great time was had by all. Much thanks must go to our drivers, Jim and Jack. They really took good care of us.

Other bus trips are in the planning stages. Watch the bulletin board in the Club Room for announcements about future trips.

On Sunday, October 27 a bus load of Legionnaires and friends will be going to a Service of Remembrance in Brechin. If you have not already signed up for this trip, do so quickly. The posting is on the Club Room bulletin board.

Comrade Keith Brannigan ran a highly successful Turkey/Steak Roll on Thanksgiving Saturday. Thanks Keith. As usual, a job well done. Mr. and Mrs. Alan Giles also provided yeoman service for the Legion.

Friday, October 18 was "Persons' Day". It was on that date in 1929 that the legal systems recognized women as "persons". Prior to that date, only men were "persons".

Start getting your Halloween costume ready. We're having a Halloween dance on Friday, November 1 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Legion Club Room. These costume parties are always loads of fun.

The annual Legion Hunters' Ball is coming soon - November 8. Bucks, $2 each, Does, free. Music will be provided by "Cimmeron" and there will be door prizes and spot dance prizes.

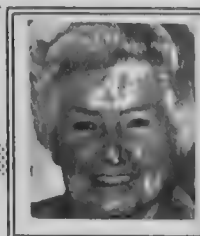

Remembrance Day will soon be here. With that in mind, I have a poem for you, written by a young lady in Grade 5.

Take a Little Poppy

Take a little poppy
And stick it in a hat.
Many people died,
We should remember that.
They died to save our country
From the enemy.

Don't you think that's great?
Just to keep us free.
We take freedom for granted.
That's why one day each year
We take a little poppy
And shed a silent tear.

Liked citizen dies

Gooderham News

by Mary Hadley

Some 18 bridge players met at the school last Tuesday evening. First place honours went to Faye Silver, our local player, while Stewart Montgomery from Harcourt Park came second.

Our community was saddened and shocked last Monday when it became known that a highly respected citizen, Aldridge Hunter, had died at the age of 78.

He entered hospital Saturday evening, and was taken to Toronto by air ambulance on Monday morning, where he died. He had lived in this community all his life. In his early life he engaged in the lumbering business. In later years he turned to construction and land development.

Residents of the "thirties" will remember Aldridge as catcher for the Gooderham ball team which made a name for itself.

He was a zealous member of the local Pentecostal church.

Twelve years ago he underwent cardiac surgery. He has not enjoyed the best of health since.

Left to mourn his loss are his wife, the former Gladys Mintz; two sons, Grant and Edward; three grandsons, Cory, Christopher and Jonathan; two sisters, Rita and Rosaline; and two brothers, Robert and John. He was predeceased by two brothers, Ronald and Charles.

Visitation was held in his home. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon in the Pentecostal church. Rev. Roger Sauve spoke comforting words to the sorrowing family.

A former pastor, Rev. Doug Willoughby paid tribute to a special friend. As a special request of the family, Please turn to Page 17

Burnt River native wins Civitan of the Year

Coboconk News

by Shiela Lake

Intended for last week

Sandford and Fanny Richman were happy to have a number of visitors on their 66th wedding anniversary on October 1. The Richmans were married in Fenelon Falls on October 1, 1919 and have one daughter, Mrs. Herb Fell, who lives at Hawkestone, near Coldwater. Their daughter and her husband were unable to be with them due to illness. May you enjoy many more years together folks.

On Monday evening, the Coboconk LOBA ladies hosted the Cameron ladies of Maple Leaf Lodge at their meeting. Following the meeting, a time of games and quizzes and draws preceded a delightful time over lunch and a cup of tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Everette Cameron spent a few days in the Collingwood area during the first part of last week.

Mary Limrick and Cora Lake have both been very ill with flu and colds. I hope you folks are soon feeling much better.

So it's now official. Bexley

Reeve Everett Cameron will not run for election this year. After nearly 40 years involved in council, municipal affairs, he is retiring so a new reeve will definitely be at the helm.

Winners in the October 8 card games that Coby Senior Citizens held in Coboconk Community Hall are as follows: Euchre - Marjorie Lee, 76; Jean Crisp, 74; most lone hands, Robinette Harding, 4; consolation, Greta Reeds, 42; Gents - Charlie Routley, 85; Ron Pearce, 70; most lone hands, Charlie Routley, 6; consolation, Audrey Threasher, 38; Bridge - Percy Crapper, 4610; Terry Park, 4580; consolation, Jack Barker, 600.

Mrs. Annie Marles and I enjoyed a visit and lunch with Mrs. Ada Fisher at Lindsay on Thursday.

The little snack bar and former laundromat by the dam has been sold. Rumour has it sold to the Fullagers, who own the Red Beret restaurant and Green Beret Rest at Kirkfield.

Mrs. Sheila Lake (my sister-in-law) from Caledon is spending a few days with Mrs. Cora Lake.

Sympathy goes out to Dean Leary and family in the sudden death of his wife, Elizabeth.

Congratulations to Burnt River native, John Blackmore, who received his Civitan of the Year from past president, John Huke, at the annual installation of new officers ceremony held in Coboconk Royal Canadian Legion Hall last Friday.

Friends and relatives are invited to a wedding dance for Karen Baker and Gene Suggitt on Saturday, October 19 at the Coboconk Legion Hall.

Hard to believe there is a vacant house for rent in Coboconk, but a two bedroom house is for rent at 454-1149.

Have you noticed many wild geese going south yet? In any case, those winter birds, the grosbeaks are back in flocks. Skunks are still rambling about and our dog almost got 'scented' on Wednesday night when she cornered a skunk up against our back step.

I hope you have your leaves nearly all raked up as these mild days will go any time now. Aren't we lucky we are here rather than in the west where they have had snow for some time now.

Keep the fire stoked up and keep well. Next well we mark our 38th anniversary, as do Goldie and Mildred McInnis and Gord and Amy Timleck.

Mrs. Mary Halliday and sons Jim and Keith of Rosedale have just returned from a holiday to the east coast, taking in many of the famous attractions there.

Mrs. Gwen Rutter is back home where she visited her sisters, Mr. and Mrs. E. Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berwick and Mrs. Muriel Griffiths, all of Northamptonshire, England, and brother, Mr. and Mrs. John Lodder at Bedfordshire, England. She reports better weather than the folks there have had all summer. It has been a very wet summer in England, Ireland and Scotland.

Sincere sympathy to the family of the late Myrtle Jewell, who died in Toronto on Thursday after a ten week illness.

Jim Black spent last week at the home of his niece, Judy, and family at St. Charles, north of Sudbury.

We enjoyed a visit with our son and family, Bob and Marilyn Lake and family at Stroud on Thanksgiving. Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Hirstwood and family also spent Thanksgiving with Bob and Marilyn.

Mrs. Annie Marles and yours truly enjoyed a visit with Mrs. Violet Ryckman in Fenelon Falls on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Marles and family of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Marles of Holt, Mrs. Ellen Marles of Toronto, Miss Evelyn Marles of Toronto, and Mr. Walter Marles of Lindsay all were Sunday visitors of Mrs. A. Marles.

Mr. and Mrs. Robbie Parker spent the weekend with friends at Oshawa and visited his father, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Goard (residents of former Lakewood Lodge) were visitors to Oshawa on Wednesday and in the evening, Barbara Goard was honoured at a retirement dinner at the Elstovno Restaurant. She was presented with a pair of diamond earrings and a diamond necklace.

The large attendance testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

meat. Cook for 3 hours at 325°. Make this a day early for a better flavour.

The Minden Girl Guides went on a outing last Saturday. Some 21 Girl Guides from the 1st Minden Company spent the day on a horseback outing, at Beau Valley Riding Centre on the Queen's Line in Minden Township. It was organized and led by Guiders Shirley Warder, Bonnie Ackerblade, Marilyn Rowden and Joanne Howard. The Girls split into three groups which alternately learned horse handling and riding. They also took a four mile observation hike. The hike required the Guides to collect information on forest flora and wildlife and clues on early settlements which are now reclaimed by the forest. The girls used the occasion for 'challenge work' to acquire their merit badges.

The girls built a camp fire to cook their meal along the way and filled a booklet with their discoveries. The older Guides completed work for their horseback riding by learning to saddle up and the younger Guides were introduced to riding. Some were introduced to horses for the first time. It was a most challenging and satisfying way to pass such a beautiful October day.

That's all for this week. Drive carefully and watch for the children boarding and getting off the school buses. I hope to see you all next week.

Lee Payne served much appreciated refreshments at the finish. David Reid presented the first Muskoka Trophy.

The organizers would like to thank all of the Dorset business people who made donations to the event; also the Dorset Lions, Alcan and Coca-Cola, and appreciation to the folks who manned the water and first aid stations.

There is to be a card party at the Rideout Community Centre on Wednesday, October 30 at 8 p.m. Admission is $1.

THANK YOU

I, Agnes Borthwick, would like to express my grateful thanks to all those fine people - mostly Senior citizens who assisted me when I had what my grandmother would have called "a Spell"! It happened on the drive home from Stratford when my feet and legs just wouldn't function and I had to be helped both on and off the bus by the handsome young driver who was always there ready to help, and made me wish I was 17
again!

The trip was well organized - not a hitch of any kind, and the ladies who did all the phoning and the paper work, are to be congratulated - also those who organized a drive home for those without cars - it all went smooth as silk and was most enjoyable.

I cannot close this without a special thank you to Lorna and Rea Stinson who practically carried me home. Thank you Lorna and Rea a thousand times.
Dr. Good has taken care of me and I am now almost as good as new again. Any morning now I will be drifting down to the Driftwood for the morning paper and for breakfast.
Sincerely,
Agnes Borthwick

IN MEMORIAM

BARRY - In loving memory of a dear brother-in-law Irie, who passed away October 27, 1984.
It's lonely here without
you.
We miss you more each day.
For life is not the same for us.
Since you were called away
To your resting place we visit.
Place flowers there with care.
But no one knows our heartache.
When we turn and leave
you there.
Sadly missed by John and Leitha Kuchelema. 32-P-23

BARRY - In loving memory of my dear husband,
Irie, who passed away
October 27, 1984.
I remember the day I met
you
And the day God made you mine.
I remember the day I lost
you, dear
And will till the end of time.
but with all my tears and heartaches
This one thing has made me glad
That you chose me to share with you
Those wonderful forty years we had.
Always remembered and loved by wife, Ruth.
32-P-23

HENRY - In loving memory of a dear husband,
father and grandfather,
Leonard Henry, who passed away October 24, 1980.
He has gone across the river
To the shore of evergreen
And we long to see his
dear face
But the river flows between;
Someday, sometime we shall see
The face we loved so well
Someday we'll clasp his hands
And never say farewell.
Sadly missed along life's way by Lillian and family.
32-P-23

SIBLEY, Eldon John - In
loving memory of a dear
father and grandfather.
What we would give if we could say
Hello, Dad in the same old way.
To hear your voice, see you smile
To sit with you and chat awhile
So you who have a father
Cherish him with care.
For you'll never know the
heartache
Till you see his vacant chair.
Lovingly remembered by Linda, John, Wendy,
James and his grandchildren. 32-P-23

IN MEMORIAM

SIBLEY, Eldon John - In
loving memory of a dear
husband who passed away
October 28, 1982.
I do not need a special day
To bring you to my mind.
The days I do not think of
you
Are very hard to find.
I think of you in silence
I often speak your name.
All I have left are memories
And your picture in a frame.
My heart still aches in sadness
My silent tears still flow
What it meant to lose you
Eldon
No one will ever know.

Seniors tour countryside on autumn trip

Senior League

by Bert Harrison at Hyland Crest

Intended for last week

Dear readers, it was a very busy weekend here at Hyland Crest again. We watched interesting movies to keep us entertained. Lots of relatives came to call to visit one another, whether it be sister, mother or brother.

Mrs. Eastman had her son come to call, Pearl Lyle had her daughter and her grandchildren call. Lilly Hogg had company most of the time, she really had a ball.

It is good to have Edna Cowan and Stutt back with us again.

I had Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Mason come to call. Mr. and Mrs. George Cowan also called, which was just fine. My son Raymond and his wife Mary stayed with me to dine.

There was really nice service in the chapel Sunday night.

It is good to have Helen Lee back with us again with her pleasant ways after undergoing surgery. She was away for many days.

Monday afternoon our activity girls took us for a bus ride. They're always doing something to keep us entertained. The afternoon was lovely, the colour was sublime. Doris drove at a steady pace and we had a lovely time. We went through Kinmount, Gooderham, Harcourt and then back to Haliburton. Then we were treated to ice cream on our homeward way. We thank our girls for looking after us so well. We all enjoyed it very much, it was really swell.

Doris reads to all who want to listen from 4:00 until 5:00, just in time to sit down to eat, which keeps us all alive.

Rev. Wicks of Minden Gospel Church came and gave an interesting message to all who came to hear. He said we should not only give thanks at Thanksgiving time, but night and day throughout the whole year. Congratulations and best wishes we would like to say to Mrs. E. Brentnell who had a birthday this 9th October day.

Wednesday our musicians came as they did many times before - Kathy from Frost Centre, Earl from Green Lake shore. They entertained us royally. They sure know how to entertain. We look forward to when it is time for them to come back again.

Doris Robertson left on Thursday noon for a week's holiday. Linda will take over while Doris is away.

Thursday afternoon the ladies of the chapel of the Haven of Rest came to us for the very first time and were our special guests. They brought and served a lunch, then led us in a real sing-song. Could they ever sing. It was a very enjoyable afternoon and much pleasure did they bring.

Members of the Kinsmen Club came to call the bingo numbers after the summer holidays. We didn't find out who came but we thank them anyway.

We thank Fern Donnelly for coming Friday to help Linda with Fun and Fitness while Doris is away.

Friday night our entertainers came, Payne, Deacon, Burch and Smith. We are always glad to see them come, for when they get their instruments tuned up they really make things hum. And when they start to play and sing the music seems to zoom.

Then John Kernohan and Mabel Deacon got up and waltzed around the room. We all enjoyed them very much and look forward to when it's time for them to return to us again.

Dear readers, this is all we have to say except to drive carefully and have a lovely time on your Thanksgiving holiday.

Dear readers, there was a lot of activity here at Thanksgiving time: some came in to dine with relatives and some went out to dine. I was pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cooper and Muriel Brown from Brantford on Saturday on their way to St. Peter's Church, Maple Lake, where they were looking forward to a Thanksgiving dinner to partake.

We watched interesting movies over the weekend to keep us entertained until our staff returns to us Tuesday morning again as we are the Hyland news reporter. Congratulations and best wishes we would like to say to Ada Shorter who had a birthday this October 13 day.

A very interesting service was held in the chapel Sunday night although the Thompsons were elsewhere. Mary Burgess read the lesson and Rev. John led in prayer, then Rev. Burgess had a very interesting message for us again.

It is good to see Neil Walker visiting here at Hyland Crest. Neil is a fine young man and we wish him all the best.

Well readers, by the time this letter reaches you, Thanksgiving will be over, the leaf colouring has been grand; no matter where you look on nature you see God's revealing hand.

Our administrator returned to us this 15th October day and said that he and Mrs. Brown had a good time while they were away.

Tuesday morning Rev. Westhaver of Minden United Church conducted a service in the chapel. Rev. Westhaver always has a message for us that is really fine. We thank him for coming this October day and Fred Ballard, the music to play.

Tuesday afternoon Linda showed us interesting movies in the auditorium, "Portrait of Mrs. Tandy," "Alexander MacKenzie" and "Buffy the Bored Raccoon". Then Linda read to us from 4:00 until 5:00 for all who wanted to attend. The name of the book she is reading is "Summer's End".

Tuesday night our entertainers came - Mervin Rivers, Murray and Shirley Davis from near the shore of Horseshoe Lake. The way they played and sang for us was really quite great. It just seemed to fill the place and they ended up by singing "Amazing Grace".

Wednesday afternoon the ladies in the craft room were as busy as can be. We don't know just what they are doing, we'd better go down and see.

Thursday down at fun and fitness where we play different games which all are good, the game we played was won by Millie Wood.

I was glad to have a visit from Carl Winch of Agincourt on this 17th of October day. He and I were in the livestock business many years ago.

Thursday afternoon was the tea party time but for some reason nobody came, our head cook served us ice cream, Linda and Jean served us tea, coffee, and soft drinks and such, then Linda and I played some lively tunes which seemed to be enjoyed so much.

Well readers, we are sorry that our Senior League letter didn't get printed in the Times. We were sure it would be in the Haliburton paper but it just didn't appear.

We wish to thank the Kinsmen members who came to call the bingo numbers Thursday night. Some of the players had good luck and really did alright.

We would like to thank

Fern Donnelly who came all the way from Mountain Lake shore to help with fun and fitness, like many times before.

Friday afternoon Grace Coburn and Norma Barron came to entertain us after being absent for quite some time for you see, Grace's husband has been sick and must undergo surgery.

WI invited to Bobcaygeon

By JEANNE SEARS

The October 16 meeting of Minden Women's Institute was held at the Library Cultural Centre. Mrs. C. Lacey welcomed members and one guest. After the usual opening the roll call of a custom of another country brought varied replies.

The card report from Mrs. Moore, brought by Mrs. A. Coulter, indicated 14 cards had been sent since the previous meeting. Correspondence was read and it included an invitation to Bobcaygeon Branch's 85th Anniversary November 16. A resolution was voted upon, so that Minden delegate Mrs. Lacey could take wishes to the area convention. Plans were made for the District Craft Day at Fenelon Falls on October 23.

The meeting then adjourned and on the little draw Mrs. L. Sedgwick was the winner.

Mrs. L. Cox, convenor of citizenship and world affairs, then had Mrs. Lacey show two films. She then led a discussion of multiculturalism and gave a report on the A.C.W. project in India. Home and Country magazines had been distributed during the meeting.

The next meeting will be November 20 at the same location with all ladies welcome.
